SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in South Vietnam's embattled northern sector poured artillery, mortar and rocket fire on U.S. and Vietnamese government troops overnight in some of the heaviest enemy shelling of the war.

The U.S. command said 12 American Marines were killed and 180 Marines and seven Army artillerymen were wounded in four attacks. South Vietnamese spokesmen termed their casualties light.

No Casualties
No enemy casualties were reported.

Heavy clouds moved back over much of North Vietnam, limiting air attacks on the North Thursday to 48 missions. All of them were made against targets in the panhandle at the southern end of North Vietnam, sparing the Hanoi-Haiphong area after three days of heavy pounding.

While fighting flared in the northernmost 1st Corps area, the Viet Cong announced they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a. m. May 22 to 7 a. m. May 24 (Saigon time) to mark Buddha's birthday. The Saigon government had said earlier it would cease fire for 24 hours on May 23.

There was no immediate indication whether the South Vietnamese and their allies would agree to the longer cease-fire period.

Cost Another Plane
Despite the lull in the air war, the assault on North Vietnam cost the United States another plane today. An Air Force F4C jet bomber caught fire and exploded as it was rolling down the runway for a bombing mission from Ubon Airbase in northeast Thailand. The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said the plane's two crewmen escaped unhurt but a ground crewman was seriously injured.

The blistering barrages just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam came after weeks of increasing U.S. concern over Communist moves in the five provinces that make up South Vietnam's 1st Corps area.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that one of the attacks on Gio Linh, an allied artillery base one mile south of the DMZ, consisted of 1,100 rounds of 105mm howitzer fire. U.S. spokesmen said an estimated 250 rounds of artillery fire were directed at U.S. positions there plus uncounted rounds of mortar fire.

Heavier Shelling
In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

At Dong Ha, where nine Marines were killed and 51 were wounded, the Communists fired 50 rounds from big, Russian-made 140mm rockets at the American positions.

The allied forces struck back with artillery fire, mortars and air strikes, but a U.S. briefing officer said no enemy casualties were reported.

U.S. B52 bombers made four strikes today, three of them in the 1st Corps area. Two hit at enemy troops concentrations, bunkers and cave complexes in Quang Tri Province, which bordered the demilitarized zone. The third was against an enemy camp 31 miles southwest of the old imperial capital of Hue.

The fourth was in the central highlands southeast of Pleiku.

Tricky Maneuvers Ahead

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vaulting skyward on twin tongues of flame, a powerful Titan 3 rocket thundered into space today packing three scientific satellites and two robot sentries to police against sneak violations of the nuclear test ban treaty.

Was Grounded Week
The five-in-one shot, grounded one week by pesky problems, blasted off at 5:01 a. m. EST to begin nearly 4½ hours of tricky space maneuvers needed to place its multiple payload into a cigar-shaped orbit ranging from 5,300 to 69,000 miles above the earth.

The mighty Air Force rocket — similar to the type that will someday launch astronauts aboard the Defense Department's Manned Orbiting Laboratory — licked the early morning darkness with brilliant plumes of flame from two strap-on booster motors.

"Everything looks good. It's on time and on the line," an Air Force spokesman said as the $20-million payload raced toward its target in space.

Fifteen minutes after liftoff, project officials reported the booster's last stage with payloads attached rocketed into an initial medium-altitude orbit as planned. About 9:15 a. m., the last stage was to re-ignite to propel the satellites toward the 69,000-mile height — nearly one-third of the distance to the moon.

Two nuclear-detection satellites, called Velas, were packed aboard the Titan 3 to spot nuclear blasts in earth's atmosphere and deep space perhaps as far away as Mars.

To Change Path
About 22 hours after separating from the Titan 3's last stage, the flight plan called for one Vela to trigger a spacecraft motor to change its elliptical path into a circular orbit 69,000 miles high, with the second Vela to perform the same maneuver in three days, stationing itself on the opposite side of earth.

Three other satellites aboard the $15-million Titan 3 are to remain in the elliptical orbit. A small arm was installed in one of the payloads, nicknamed the "windshield-wiper satellite," to sweep across various materials such as stainless steel and gold so engineers can measure friction characteristics.

A second payload was designed to study death-dealing and satellite-damaging radiation emitted from the sun while the third satellite studies other types of radiation near earth.

Dispels Idea Communists Near Collapse in Viet

Westmoreland: Escalation Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress today the only strategy that can defeat the Communist enemy in Vietnam "is one of unrelenting military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure—at all levels."

This appeared a call for increased escalation, possibly including broadened bombing of North Vietnam and commitment of more U.S. troops to battle Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Confident of Victory

In an unprecedented personal report to Congress by a war commander, Westmoreland described U.S. forces as "unbeatable" and said they have been successful in destroying Communist main force units.

He said, "I can assure you here and now" that the Communist stratagem called "war of national liberation" will not succeed in Vietnam.

But while speaking of a "hopeful state of affairs," the U.S. commander in Vietnam sought to dispel any idea that the Communists are near collapse.

His remarks were in a prepared speech.

Later he was to brief governors, congressional leaders and Cabinet members at a White House luncheon.

In considerable detail, Westmoreland pictured for a joint meeting of House and Senate an enemy who has doubled his strength despite heavy battle losses, whose commanders are skilled professionals, whose troops are well trained, whose primitive sunnly system is surprisingly effective.

"I foresee that he will continue his buildup across the demilitarized zone and through Laos, and he will attack us when he believes he has a chance for a dramatic blow," the general predicted.

His Other Views
"I expect the enemy to continue to increase his mortar, artillery, rocket and recoilless rifle attacks on our installations. At the same time he will step up his attacks on hamlet, village and district organizations to intimidate the people and to thwart the democratic process."

Westmoreland did not repeat his charge — made at The Associated Press annual meeting in New York Monday — that anti-war protests in the United States are encouraging the Communists to fight on, and that this will cost the lives of American and allied soldiers.

Progress Noted in UR Area

Construction as well as planning is progressing in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project area, Eric Hemp-hill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency noted today.

Aerial survey work for both downtown and uptown projects have been completed, he said, ground crews today began "horizontal and ground surveys," and a new street is under construction in the downtown area.

Grading Nears End
Grading on the site of the Rondout Gardens housing project nears completion and utility lines are soon to be installed.

Aerial photogrammetric survey work was done by the Aero Service Corp., of Philadelphia, Pa., and the agency has received aerial photographs.

Brinrier & Larios and Newmon & Doll, the agency's engineering consultants, began ground work today, and when it is finished it will be plotted on aerial photographs before final photogrammetric maps are completed. Ground work is due to be completed in about a week.

A finished product is expected to be received from Aero Service about June 1. Maps will be scaled one inch to 40 feet "with one foot contour intervals, and will show ground details such as buildings, streets, curbs, manholes utility poles, street signs and other such detail."

Underground utilities such as electric, sewer and water lines will be plotted on finished maps.

Site Work First
After final maps are received "the agency will be in a position to instruct its engineers to pro-

BEFORE THE VERDICT — Attorney F. Lee Bailey and Dr. Carl Coppolino (r) seemed content Thursday as they leave the Collier County Circuit Court in Naples, Fla. Today, Coppolino was convicted of second degree murder in the drug-murder of his wife Carmela. Conviction of second degree murder carries a penalty of 20 years to life in prison. UPI TELEPHOTO

Barrister Protests Fla. Jury's Ruling

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino was convicted of second degree murder today in the drug-murder of his wife Carmela.

Two Expressionless
Coppolino sat expressionless with his head in his hands as the verdict was delivered at 9:25 a. m. after less than four hours of jury deliberation.

Marv Coppolino, the wealthy divorcee he married after Carmela's death, also sat expressionless in a front row seat just behind her husband at the defense table.

Conviction of second degree murder carries a penalty of 20 years to life in prison.

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey moved immediately for a new trial and said if the motion was denied the case would be appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

After the jury foreman, 48-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

The defeat was a stunning one for Bailey, the dynamic, 33-year-old Boston defender who sprang into national prominence when he gained a new trial that freed Dr. Sam Sheppard.

The judge ordered Coppolino taken into custody immediately and delivered to the state penitentiary at Raiford. Bailey vigorously protested the verdict as invalid and illegal and moved that Coppolino be discharged. "This is obviously the sort of charge where the verdict must be maximum or nothing," said Bailey. "There is no in between. From the allegation of poisoning the second degree conviction cannot stand."

Shows Compromise: Bailey
Bailey said Coppolino can never be tried for first degree murder in this case again. By virtue of premeditation, he said, a poisoning case could only result in the conviction of first degree murder.

Bailey said the verdict showed compromise.

The judge denied Bailey's motion to continue Coppolino's $15,000 bail pending an appeal which must be filed within 15 days.

"This is a sick man," said Bailey. "You have a highly doubtful case. Incarceration will be wasted."

Coppolino, looking gaunt and shocked, conferred briefly with Bailey and then shook his head when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

The jury went back to its deliberations at 9:08 a. m. after an overnight recess in guarded quarters.

Silvertooth had summoned the panel of 12 men from the jury room at 10:20 p. m. Thursday night and asked if they were close enough to a verdict to continue deliberations.

"The court will go along with whatever you say," said Silvertooth.

Juror Harry Miller, 48, a Naples mortgage broker, said, "Under the present circumstances, I think we had better go home."

One of Five Verdicts
Silvertooth told the jury it could reach one of five verdicts — conviction of first, second, or third-degree murder or manslaughter, or an acquittal. A first-degree conviction could mean death in the electric chair.

The state accused Dr. Carl Coppolino, 34-year-old anesthesiologist, of murdering his first wife Aug. 28, 1965, with an injection of a drug, succinylcholine to collect her life insurance and to marry a rich divorcee.

Judge Irving Ben Cooper Speaks

Van Winkle Council Honors Four Veteran Scout Leaders

OLIVER A. TWEEDY

Rip Van Winkle Council, BSA, honored four of its outstanding members at a Scouters Recognition Dinner last week at J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

Oliver A. Tweedy, of Hurley, president of the Rip Van Winkle Council, and Scoutmaster Charles A. Hudson of Troop 32, Saugerties, sponsored by the Atoneum Lutheran Church, were presented the 1967 Silver Beaver Awards, the highest honor a council can bestow on a member.

Cite Angstrom, Wilson

Two veteran volunteer Scout leaders, Dr. Clement Angstrom of Kingston and Norman Wilson of Stone Ridge, were recognized for completing all of the requirements for the Wood Badge Award, the highest national training award granted by BSA. Participating in the Wood Badge presentation ceremony were Richard Waltman, Kingston; Robert Tremper, Ulster Park; Frederick Sutter and Kenneth Magyar, New Paltz and Edmund Dapp, Highland, all of whom are former recipients of the award.

The guest speaker of the dinner, attended by over 240 Scouters and guests, was Judge Irving Ben Cooper, United States District Court judge for the Southern District of New York, who spoke on "The Plight of Youth in the Courts."

Tribute to Tri-Mount the new camp film depicting activities at Camp Tri-Mount was shown by Marjorie Wessdorf of Saugerties.

Tweedy Is Toastmaster

Council President Tweedy of Hurley served as toastmaster throughout the dinner program.

During the dinner, President Tweedy presented certificates of appreciation to several men who had given leadership of successful Boy Scout campaigns in their home communities. A certificate of appreciation was also awarded to Wessdorf for his work in producing the new camp film, Tribute to Tri-Mount.

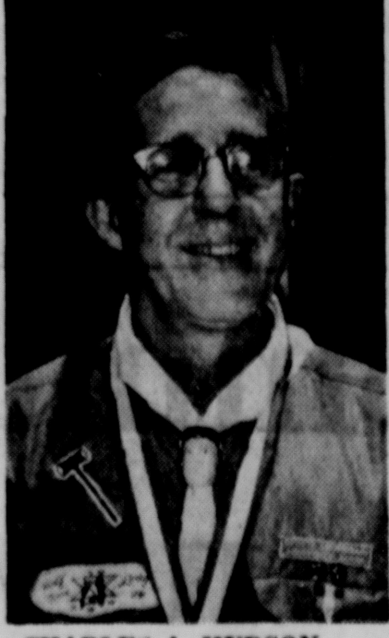

Representing the Ulster County Community Chest was Chest Executive Director Wilfred T. Springer.

Opening the fellowship and recognition phase of the program, held in the school auditorium, was an impressive ceremony under the direction of District Scout Executive John Vliet of Catskill.

A brief message of welcome to the Ontario Trail District was given by Doug S. Meyers, Jr. of Hurley.

Carlson Wins Trophy

The Man-Miles Trophy, awarded

CHARLES A. HUDSON

ed annually to the district whose Scouters traveled the highest aggregate of man-miles to attend the dinner program, was presented to John C. Carlson of Saugerties, commissioner of the Mohican Trail District by Dinner Chairman Harry Hoffman of Saugerties.

Scout Executive Alex MacDonald of Hurley spoke briefly on the vital role played by Scouting volunteer leaders. Special recognition was given to George B. Matthews, of Kingston, one of the early pioneers of the Scouting movement in the Rip Van Winkle Council, whose record of service dates back to 1917.

Note Tweedy's Career

President Tweedy's service to boyhood through Scouting began in 1955 when he served as chairman, and subsequently as a member of the Pack Committee, of Pack 20, Hurley. He later served for a number of years as an institutional representative of Troop and Post 20 sponsored by the Hurley Lions Club. On a district level, Tweedy successively held posts as organization extension chairman, Advancement Committee chairman, and District vice chairman from 1956 through 1964.

In May 1966 he was elected to the presidency of the Rip Van Winkle Council. Long interested in working with high school age youth, Tweedy still maintains his position as Explorer Advisor of Explorer Post 20 in Hurley.

Hudson Began in '57

Charles Hudson's service as an adult volunteer Scout leader began in 1957 when he became assistant cubmaster of Pack 32 in Saugerties. He served in various leadership capacities with this unit, including those of Cubmaster and Pack Committee member, through 1966. In 1959 Hudson also assumed chairmanship of Troop 32, a post which he held until recently. Currently he is registered as scoutmaster of Troop 32.

In addition to his service on a unit level, Hudson is a merit badge counselor in a number of merit badge subjects, including—Indian lore, fishing and archery. He has given several years of service as an instructor in numerous leadership training events including the Council Cub Scout Pow Wow for adult volunteer leaders. He is the recipient of the Cubmasters Training Key, the Paul Bunyan Award and is a brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow, National Camping Honor Society.

Ladycliffe Gets $198,185 Grant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ladycliffe College in Highland Falls, N.Y., is the recipient of a $198,185 federal grant to help finance construction of a library.

Rep. John G. Dow, a Grandview Democrat, also announced Thursday that a portion of the grant from the Office of Education would be used to expand the college's central heating plant.

The 34-year-old Roman Catholic college for women, situated near the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, has an enrollment of about 500.

Study Bill For Aid to Schoharie

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House had before it today a $448-million bill that would broaden the Appalachia aid program to include Schoharie County, N.Y., and funds for a Southern Tier highway, among its provisions.

The measure was approved by the Senate, 68-13, Thursday, and advocates said they were confident of House approval within the next two months.

In addition to the east-central New York State county, the 13-state program would add 18 counties in Mississippi and two in Alabama not represented before.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who previously had called for the addition of Sullivan and Yates counties, said he hoped the House would include the two additional New York counties in its version of the bill.

The measure also makes available $140 million for 350 miles of highway across New York's Southern Tier, plus a connection into Pennsylvania.

That amount is included in the $175 million extra for highway development, added to the $840 million carried in the 1965 law for a six-year program.

The authorizations carry $273,650,000 for the non-highway aspects of the program, for the two-year period starting July 1, compared with $252,400,000 approved in 1965 for the first two years.

American Motors Plans Subsidiary Sale to Cut Debt

By CHARLES C. GAIN
AP Business Writer

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors reportedly has taken a giant step toward solving its financial problems by selling its financing subsidiary, Redisco, Inc. to Chrysler Corp.

The sale was confirmed today by unimpeachable sources. They told The Associated Press that formal announcement of the deal is scheduled for next Tuesday.

To List Loss

American Motors' board of directors meets Monday and is expected to announce a $30-million loss for the first six months of its current fiscal year.

There was no official confirmation from either American Motors or Chrysler regarding the sale.

Chrysler Board Chairman Lynn A. Townsend told newsmen April 18. "We are continuing to look at Redisco but no decision has been made yet."

Redisco, whose annual profit was estimated at between $3 million and $4 million, reportedly carried a price tag of over $30 million.

The decision to sell profitable Redisco was made by American's Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. and President William V. Luneburg, who took over the firm's top two places Jan. 9.

The decision apparently is based on two big factors: American Motors has $95 million in short-term bank loans coming due May 31 and needs cash to make payments on time and pave the way to renegotiation of further loans.

To Stress Car Sales

The Chapin-Luneburg strategy appears to be to get rid of Redisco and the Kelvinator appliance divisions, and devote all time, money and energy toward gaining a substantial foothold in the auto market. Both Redisco and Kelvinator are money makers while the auto division is in the red, observers said.

Nobody at American Motors would discuss the myriad reports about the company's internal reassessment.

Redisco and Kelvinator had been reported on the sales block for several months.

The future of Kelvinator remained uncertain.

Only a small amount of Redisco's financing is in the automotive field. The bulk of its $313-million business last year was in making time-payment loans to purchasers of appliances, home furnishings and musical instruments.

Hit Leary In Suit for $4 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Timothy

Leary, the LSD exponent, has been accused by two artist-directors of planning to use techniques they perfected in a feature-length film on the "psychedelic experience."

The $4 million suit, filed in Manhattan Supreme Court Thursday by Jackie Cassen and Rudi Stern, contends each has "a reputation as a leading exponent of a new art form involving the use of light and lighting techniques, known as kinetic, electrodelic and pschdelic art."

The two men said they joined the teaching staff of the League for Spiritual Discovery at Millbrook, N.Y., last year at Leary's request. The league's headquarters have since moved to Manhattan.

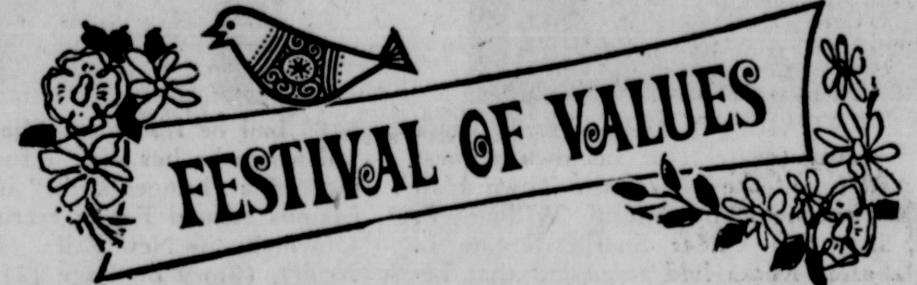

They allege now that Leary and others have used their technique in a California-produced film and that if distributed, the film would hold them up to ridicule and contempt.

Reports Outlay For Medicare

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Kingston Social Security Administration, announced today that in the first nine months of Medicare, on the national level, there were nearly four million hospital admissions. About 3 1/4 million hospital bills for medicare beneficiaries have been processed resulting in a payment of approximately $1.4 billion dollars or an average of $432 per billing.

He said that about 15 million physicians' bills for services have been received which represents approximately six to seven million individuals. Sixty per cent of the bills resulted in a payment and 40 per cent involved no payment because the $50 deductible had not been met. As of this date approximately $357 million dollars has been paid on claims processed. The average paid per bill amounted to $60. Habernig indicated that approximately 50 per cent of the bills received were accepted by the physicians on assignment. Habernig explained that whether a bill is taken on assignment is entirely up to the physician. He emphasized that arrangement for the payment of bills is strictly between the patient and the doctor.

Habernig said that 19 million people 65 and over are entitled under the hospital insurance program of Medicare and 17.6 million or 93 per cent of the total, are enrolled in the voluntary medical insurance program under Medicare. Of the 2 1/2 million people who pay their medical insurance premium directly to the Social Security Administration, about 2 per cent have failed to respond to their premium notices. Habernig said that his office staff is available Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Thursday until 8 p. m. to answer questions about Medicare and to help those who need help in filing their claims for reimbursement under Medicare.

Brach Enters Race for County Legislator, 9th

Ralph Brach, chairman of the Town of Shawangunk Planning Board and former chairman of the Ulster County Planning Board announced this week he will seek one of the county legislator positions from the ninth district.

The ninth county legislative district extends from the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Highland to the top of the Shawangunk Mountains at Walker Valley and takes in the towns of Shawangunk, Plattekill, Marlboro and Lloyd. There will be five legislators chosen from this district at the election this fall. All five candidates will run "at large" in the entire district.

Brach said that the two years experience as chairman of the County Planning Board and his 20 years experience as a successful businessman should have prepared him for the county legislator position. Prior to going into business for himself he served two years in the army in World War II and prior to entering the army he was employed by the State Comptroller as an auditor of state institutions for five years.

Brach said that to have his name placed on the ballot for the primary June 20, he needs the signatures of over 200 enrolled

Name Wawarsing Town Supervisor to NACO

George M. Barthel, supervisor of the Town of Wawarsing, has been appointed to the Health and Education Committee, of the National Association of Counties in Washington, D. C. Only governing board members of County Member Service counties are eligible for committee assignment — an important feature of a county's membership in NACO.

The committee meets yearly in Washington, D. C., and members participate in vital legislative discussion with Congress and federal administrators on matters which affect this and other counties.

Barthel is also a member of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's National Advisory Committee on Rural Area Development.

Republicans within the district. These must be obtained by May 16.

Brach said he wanted to make it clear that he is not running in opposition to Mr. Corey, the regularly endorsed Republican candidate from Shawangunk, but that he believes that Shawangunk is entitled to two representatives because of its larger enrollment. The Town of Shawangunk has 1,413 enrolled Republicans and Lloyd has only 763.

Brach said that in the district caucus of Republican committeemen where the regularly endorsed candidates of the Republican party were selected Shawangunk was outvoted because Lloyd has 16 committeemen and Shawangunk has only eight although Shawangunk has almost double the number of enrolled Republicans that Lloyd has.

Brach added that if he is able to obtain the required number of signatures there will be six names on the primary ballot June 20 from which five will be chosen as candidates to run in the election this fall.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

It seems strange, with all this talk about progress, that so many folks are looking for authentic antiques or even reproductions of simple household items. I see in a catalogue of recent date, a reproduction of 1880 glass base table lamps with glass chimney and fancy base, some 18 inches high. They have a burner and wick and ready to fill with kerosene and use. They weigh about eight pounds and according to style cost from $5 to $10, but I think they can be had even cheaper in local stores, perhaps. An old gas light fixture, with bracket, and reflector was brought to my attention. It had been hidden from sight many years, and no doubt after cleaning will be an interesting item. It may even be an outdoor gas light, discarded many years ago.

I have been asked about the three statues in the Academy Park; Petrus Stuyvesant, Henry Hudson and George Clinton. Their sculptor was John Massey Rhind. He was born in Edinburgh in 1860. He studied at London's Royal Academy and later in Paris then came to America. These statues were fortunately rescued by Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne from a building which was destroyed in New York City. I do not have the full story, but I think they were going to be sold as metal for junk, and Mrs. Chadbourne was able to salvage them and gave them as a gift for this park on June, 1950. On the base of Hudson, can be read: "Gorham Mfg. Co. founders 1898—J. Massey Rhind S. C." On base of Clinton it reads: "J. Massey Rhind, Sculptor — 1898." Those who are studying art today, may be interested to see these statues, with what perfection they are made. What talent the sculptor had for details.

A Kingston Freeman item of Tuesday, Feb. 15, 1916 tells about the Kingston Academy being taken down at Academy Green by Peter J. Halloran. The wordwork was first removed from the school rooms, and the floor beams could be seen. The bricks were also removed. Purple and gold being the colors of the historic school were still found clinging to the pillar in one of the lower rooms, "abiding by the old building until its death," item concluded.

The week of April 13, 1967 several Broadway buildings from Meadow Street down were demolished. Cappy's Market, Wimpy's Bar and Grill, Brown's Shoe Shine Parlor, and Delamater's all three story, with stores on the ground floor, Wimpy's Dance Hall, the one story structure was only built some 12 years ago. There was a sadness among those who watched, as the large wire cable ate into the recent taxpaying buildings. Each one of these buildings had been connected with electricity, gas, water and sewer lines, and central heating were in three of them. Remember many years ago, when many of us girls used to embroider the saying, "No matter how humble, there is no place like home" frame it and hang it on the wall. We knew, then it was true. No one, back in our time, would knock on our doors, and force us out like they do today. Many little property owners, spent years paying up their mortgages, hoping to retire in peace in their familiar neighborhood. Now they are forced to sell their homesteads at a price offered, with no choice except court procedure. No longer, is a person's home his castle, as the Urban Renew-

Gold Bar Missing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A gold bar worth approximately $12,000 is missing from the theft-plagued San Francisco Mint, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The bar, which weighs about 21 pounds, has been missing at least two months.

Five mint employees have been charged with stealing coins and coin blanks from the mint, which installed new security devices last month.

Social Security Manager Outlines Trust Fund Setup

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Kingston, stated today that because of the recent interest that has been shown in the Social Security Trust Fund, from which social security payments are made, the following information is furnished to clarify some of the points raised:

The social security contributions made by working people and employers go into three trust funds which are kept separate from all other funds in the U. S. Treasury. The monthly premiums paid by the people enrolled for the voluntary medical insurance part of health insurance for people 65 and over go into a fourth trust fund, as does the matching amount from the federal government.

Dates to 1939

The Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund, the oldest and largest of the four social security trust funds, dates from 1939 and is used to finance the payment of cash retirement and survivors insurance benefits.

The second of the funds is the Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund. This fund was set up in 1956 to finance the benefits payable to people who become disabled before reaching 65. The law was later changed to permit payment of benefits to the dependents of disabled workers from the fund. A fixed part of the social security contribution is earmarked for this fund.

The two newest funds were established by the 1965 Amendments to the Social Security Act. They are the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund and the Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund. Benefits for health insurance for people 65 and over are paid from these two funds.

By law, the assets of these four trust funds can be used only for the payment of benefits and administrative expenses. The money in the funds not currently needed for the payment of benefits and operating costs is invested in interest-bearing U.S. Government securities.

Constantly Reviewed

All estimates of income and outgo both the short-range and the long-range are constantly reviewed and revised as necessary to keep pace with and reflect actual experience and expected changes in the economy, the population, and other factors. Monthly data on the operations of the trust fund is published in the Social Security Bulletin. This publication may be consulted at many university and public libraries and at all social security district offices. Information on the receipts and expenditures of the trust funds is also shown in the monthly statements of the U.S. Treasury Department.

Congress has repeatedly affirmed its intent that the systems be soundly financed, not only currently but also into the long-range future. Congress reviews the operations and status of the trust funds and the estimates of future income and outgo and also hears the testimony of actuaries and other financial experts, both from within and outside of the Government.

The Social Security Act provides for Boards of Trustees of the trust funds. Each board is composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Labor, and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare with the Commissioner of Social Security serving as Secretary of the Boards. The Boards of Trustees are required by law to make reports to Congress each year on the operations and status of the trust funds during the previous fiscal year and on the expected operations and status in the next few years and for the long-range future.

As required by law, on Advisory Council on Social Security which was made up of distinguished experts in the fields of social science, economics, actuarial science, business, and medicine submitted its report on Jan. 1, 1965. The following statement was included in its report:

The social security program as a whole is soundly financed, its funds are properly invested, and on the basis of actuarial estimates that the Council has reviewed and found sound and

Murphy Files March Report

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, in his report to the police board Wednesday, noted 31 persons injured in 24 traffic mishaps in March and 73 arrests made.

Arrests were 18 more than in February, and in that month 38 persons were injured in 23 traffic accidents.

Of the March arrests, 10 were for third degree assault, 22 for public intoxication, nine for petit larceny, six for disorderly conduct, four for second degree assault, two each for first degree assault, third degree burglary, and malicious mischief. One each was made for first degree robbery, grand larceny, and endangering the life and health of a child.

Twelve arrests were made in March for moving traffic violations, and 34 for vehicle and traffic law violations.

Of the accidents, 13 were injured in 20 mishaps involving two or more vehicles, six were pedestrians, three accidents involved bicycles, one was a car-railroad engine collision and one involved a motor vehicle and a fixed object.

Temple Men Will Conduct Rites Toight

Members of Temple Emanuel Brotherhood will conduct Passover Sabbath services tonight 7:45 p. m. at the temple.

Participating in the service will be Dr. Alan Segal, Charles Jacobs, Stanley Wyman and Albert Spiegel. Mrs. Alan Segal will kindle the Sabbath lights. Dr. Saul Goldfarb will lead the congregation in chanting the Kiddush.

Those taking part in the Torah service will be Robert Ronder, Dr. Mark Dean and Maurice Goldberg. Serving as ushers will be Aaron Eldridge, Edward Levine and Milton Wissok.

A special movie, "Around My Base Is It," dealing with man's search for God, will be shown during Oneg Shabbat. Clergymen from a number of local churches and men from their congregations have been invited to attend the service and program. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Another special feature of the Oneg Shabbat will be the exhibition of a Murillo original painting, "Moses Striking the Rock," shown by Albert Nemethy of Newburgh.

25 Tons Flour Stolen

FAIR HAVEN, Vt. (AP) — Vermont State Police are looking for 25 tons of baking flour taken from a derailed railroad car and valued at about $5,000. Police said the car was one of three pushed over a bank to clear the Delaware & Hudson tracks after a 17-car derailment of a Boston and Maine Railroad freight train Feb. 27. The three cars contained a total of 90 tons of flour valued at $30,000.

Two of the cars broke open and the flour from them apparently was taken by area residents after a rumor began that they could have all they wanted. Railroad officials said they were not too concerned about that flour, some of which had spoiled, but the third car had been sealed.

Taking part in the investigation are New York State Police and Delaware & Hudson Railroad police.

appropriate, provision has been made to meet all of the costs of the program both in the short-range and over the long-range future.

Cover Expenses

Habernig stated that interest received from the investment of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Funds in U.S. interest-bearing government securities amounted to nearly 600 million dollars in fiscal year 1965 and was more than enough to pay the total administrative expenses of administering the program which amounted to slightly over 300 million dollars.

COAST ARMS CACHE — Cecil Poole, U.S. Attorney for Northern California, inspects part of an estimated 55,000 pounds of arms and ammunition at warehouse in Berkeley, Calif. The arms and ammo, part of the private arsenal of Mr. and Mrs. William Thoresen, III, was seized by Federal agents. Some 20 tons of arms and ammo have been seized in Berkeley and in Oakland and agents believe more is stored in the Bay Area. UPI TELEPHOTO

Unwilling 'Lover' Is Best Forgotten

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 50 years old and have had my eye on this married man of 45 for more than 5 years. I have been married 24 years and my children are grown and married.

My husband works nights and I get tired looking at the four walls practically all the time. About 3 years ago I called up this man to come and see me when I'm all alone. He's real nice looking and dresses up so nice and talks sweet, too. Well, at first he seemed to like me, and he'd come over about three times a week. Then all of a sudden he always had an excuse why he couldn't make it. He works at a garage and he would tell the guys to tell me he wasn't there when I called.

I finally got so mad at him I called up his wife and told her all about us. She said, "You aren't the first one and you won't be the last" and hung up on me. I just can't forget this man, Abby. How can I get him back?

CRAZY FOR HIM

DEAR CRAZY: You can't, so you had better try to forget him. And quit calling him! You have too much free time, lady. If you don't like night TV, find a job to keep yourself busy, or you're apt to find yourself out on the street with no husband.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law was brought up in Boston and she says it is "bad taste" or at best, "small-townish and provincial" to publish death notices reading "cherished daughter, beloved wife, or devoted husband, etc."

She claims if the person was "cherished, beloved, or devoted" there is no reason to advertise it as strangers don't care what the family relationship was, and friends who know find such descriptions hilariously funny. What do you think?

A READER IN CINCY

DEAR READER: Your sister-in-law must have a peculiar sense of humor. There is nothing "hilariously funny" about a death notice in any language.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Only Her Fiance" — who was annoyed because his girl friend suddenly came up with contact lenses. He thought as long as he didn't object to her wearing glasses she shouldn't have bothered with contacts. Her "sudden vanity" made him suspicious. Well, may I say that contact lenses are not worn only as a cosmetic aid? They act as a "girdle" to the eye and keep the vision from worsening as quickly as it would have without lenses. Before I got my contacts I had my glasses' prescription changed 3 times in 18 months.

I've been wearing contacts for nearly 5 years and I haven't had the prescription changed once! And my vision is far better now than it ever was with glasses. GIGI

Wawarsing Area Not Scheduled In Spray Plans

Through telephone conversations and correspondence with officials of the State of New York Conservation Department, Town of Wawarsing supervisor, George Barthel, has learned that the State will not be doing any spraying for the elimination of gypsy moths in the Lackawack Hill area of the township this year.

Barthel, who has been investigating the matter, said he has been informed that, due to spraying, parasites, disease and starvation, there were no areas on Lackawack Hill where the number of egg masses came up to the minimum for State treatment. He said James A. Berlew, of Bearsville, area Division of Lands and Forests foreman, did not say there were no gypsy moths in the particular area in question, but noted that it was not felt that treatment is necessary at this time.

Barthel said the State has advised him that a close watch will be kept on the hill and other areas and, if the need arises, treatment will be undertaken in future years, if it is found that the gypsy moth infestation increases to meet standards for spraying.

Okay $22M To Provide Safe Roads

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York agencies had the go-ahead signal from Gov. Rockefeller today to launch a $22-million program designed to increase highway safety across the state.

Rockefeller said the legislation he signed during a ceremony Thursday would make the state eligible for $11 million in federal aid under the Highway Safety Act of 1966.

Matching Funds

In order to secure the aid, the state must contribute a matching amount. The combined sums will be spent on efforts to make roads safer for drivers and pedestrians.

The bill was among several on which Rockefeller acted as he continued to dispose of the product of the 1967 Legislature. He has until midnight May 2 to make his decisions on the 400 measures still on his desk.

In the latest actions, Rockefeller signed bills that:

— Simplify sales tax bookkeeping for small businesses, by allowing them to base their tax obligation on the basis of total annual sales instead of having to keep track of the tax they collect on each sale. The law applies to about 425,000 merchants — those with annual sales of less than $500,000.

Fringe Benefits

— Provide additional fringe benefits for state employees. One measure authorizes state agencies to pay time and a half for overtime work. Employees now are given compensatory time off. Another bill requires the state to pay the full cost of basic health insurance coverage for state workers.

Under terms of the law, cities, counties and towns with populations of more than 50,000 will be eligible to receive traffic safety money provided they establish local highway safety boards and meet other state and federal standards.

Dispels Idea . . .

eral came to this was to recall that "As I have said before, in evaluating the enemy strategy it is evident to me that he believes our Achilles' heel is our resolve."

Calls Support Reassuring

Then Westmoreland said to the senators and representatives: "Your continuing strong support is particularly reassuring."

And he assured Congress his troops "the finest ever fielded by our nation" — will succeed, "backed here at home by resolve, confidence, patience, determination and continued support."

The Vietnam commander's criticism of protests ignited a week-long controversy in which some congressional opponents of U.S. involvement in Vietnam accused President Johnson of bringing Westmoreland to the United States to stifle dissent.

Mild Rap at Critics

Westmoreland's speech contained a mild rap at those who deplore the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Recounting recent instances of Viet Cong assassinations of South Vietnamese civilians, Westmoreland declared: "One hears little of this brutality here at home. What we do hear about is our own aerial bombing against North Vietnam."

Then, in defense of U.S. air attacks on the North, Westmoreland said: "For years, the enemy has been blowing bridges, interrupting traffic, cutting roads, sabotaging power stations, blocking canals and attacking airfields in the South, and he continues to do so."

"Bombing in the North has been centered on precisely these same kinds of targets and for the same military purposes — to reduce the supply, interrupt the movement and impair the effectiveness of enemy military forces."

Lashes Reds on Truces

Westmoreland said the enemy in Vietnam is waging total war, adding: "He believes in force, and his intensification of violence is limited only by his resources and not by any moral inhibitions."

The general said "our observation of past truces has been open and subject to public scrutiny" but the enemy "permits no such observation."

"He traditionally has exploited cease fire periods when the bombing has been suspended to increase his resupply and infiltration activity," Westmoreland said.

Thus, the Vietnam war leader repeated the concern he expressed at the AP meeting about cease-fire proposals such as those during the Lunar New Year and Christmas holidays.

He did so only days after the Viet Cong declared a 48-hour truce next month to mark the birthday of Buddha. Previously, the South Vietnamese government had proposed a 24-hour truce for the same purpose on May 23.

Westmoreland did not talk about his possible need for more troops.

But he could have been trying to strengthen the case for further U.S. reinforcements when he said the buildup of enemy forces "has been formidable."

"During the last 22 months," Westmoreland said, "the number of enemy combat battalions in the South has increased significantly and nearly half of them are North Vietnamese."

According to recent official estimates, there are about 150

Errors Delay Refunds

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says 128,394 taxpayers in New England and New York will receive tax refunds late because they made mistakes in filling out their income tax forms.

A spokesman at the IRS computer center said Wednesday the mistakes included putting too many or too few digits in Social Security numbers, computing taxes from wrong tables, and mathematical errors.

He said the mistakes caused computers at the center to reject the forms.

Three Area Firms Named Among 'Accident-Proof'

Three Ulster County firms — Callanan Road Improvement Company of Kingston, Hercules Inc. of Port Jervis, and IBM of Kingston — won awards or certificates of achievement in the 42nd Annual Accident Prevention Campaign in this area — but it remained for two Poughkeepsie companies to emerge as Grand Award winners.

Love Oil Corporation and Shaker, Travis & Quinn Inc., both of Poughkeepsie, were the Grand Award winners in the campaign which is jointly sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association and Associated Industries of New York State Inc. The two firms were cited from among the 33 in the Mid-Hudson region participating in the Jan. 1 through March 25 campaign, during which 15 of these companies won a total of 21 awards.

Kingston's Callanan Road Improvement received a one hundred percent award as one of the enrolled companies completing this year's campaign without an accident. Other awards in this category went to New York Trap Rock Corporation of New Hamburg and to Allstate Design & Development Co. Inc., 100 West 12th Street, New York City.

IBM of Poughkeepsie, Inc., 100 West 12th Street, New York City, and Westwood Company, 100 West 12th Street, New York City, were cited for their work in the Poughkeepsie area.

Certificates of achievement will be presented to Kingston's IBM facility and Port Jervis' Hercules Inc. Various facilities of IBM at Poughkeepsie and East Fishkill and Western Instruments, Inc., also of Poughkeepsie, won additional achievement certificates.

Special citations for accident-free participation in more than five consecutive annual campaigns will go to four Poughkeepsie firms, including De Lauro Separator Company, Lansing-Brown Printing Company, New York Telephone Company and Kem Plastic Playing Cards, Inc.

Presentations to all local and area firms will be made at the Annual Awards Banquet at the Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie, May 8.

Communist battalions in South Vietnam. Total enemy strength is placed at about 287,000. Westmoreland said U.S. firepower and spoiling attacks have foiled the enemy's tactic of launching surprise attacks to achieve quick victory by sudden application of overwhelming local power.

But he warned that success against the enemy's regular forces alone "is not enough to insure a swift and decisive end to the conflict."

Stresses Terror Tactics

The American general stressed that the enemy uses terror against the Vietnamese population in a bid to exercise control through fear.

"This tactic," he employs daily, "is much harder to counter than his best conventional."

Given the nature of the enemy, he said "it seems to me that the strategy we are following at this time is the proper one."

"While he obviously is far from quitting, there are signs that his morale and his military structure are beginning to deteriorate," Westmoreland said.

"Their rate of decline will be in proportion to the pressure directed against him."

Lauds Allied Forces

The American commander tipped his hat to allied forces fighting in Vietnam, and said the South Vietnamese troops "merit special mention."

"What I see now in Vietnam is a military force that performs with growing professional skill," Westmoreland said of a South Vietnamese army often criticized by U.S. military men for lack of aggressiveness and fighting qualities.

He singled out the South Koreans, too, recalling that in 1952 there were some who doubted that Korea would ever have a first rate fighting force.

"I wish those doubters could see the Korean units in Vietnam today," the American general said. "They rank with the best fighters and the most effective civic action workers in Vietnam."

Westmoreland cited a long list of comparative statistics to illustrate what he called a prodigious logistic buildup over the past two years.

He said the figures show that "the representatives of the people of the United States have seen to it that the commanders and our men in the field have lacked for nothing."

And, Westmoreland added: "When a field commander does not have to look nervously over his shoulder to see whether he is being supported, he can concentrate on the battlefield with much greater assurance of success."

The park system of Kansas City contains about 3,700 acres.

Asks Rail Strike Curb Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress today to extend for 45 days the no strike period covering a dispute between the nation's railroads and six shop craft unions.

The row now is in the closing stages of a 20-day no-strike period authorized by Congress and this ends at 12:01 a.m. next Tuesday.

House Speaker John W. McCormack D-Mass., announced the President's request will be taken up by the House Monday. If no progress is made toward a settlement, Johnson notified Congress he would submit a proposal for legislation to cope with this one case. White House officials were unwilling to talk, however, in terms of compulsory arbitration.

A 45-day extension added to the present one would run to June 17.

Six Are Promoted By C-H Firm

Six executive promotions were announced today at Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president and chief executive officer.

Ernest E. Althouse, One Alden Road, Poughkeepsie, and Edwin T. Strong, 34 Beechwood Park, Poughkeepsie, were promoted to senior vice presidents.

L. Wallace Cross, 24 Laffin Lane, Poughkeepsie, was promoted to vice president and controller; Jack A. McEnroe, Sunset Trail, Clinton Corners, was promoted to vice president—finance;

Charles E. Rider, 62 River Road, Rhinebeck, was promoted to vice president—administration; and Joseph F. Furlong, 19 Hornbeck Ridge, Poughkeepsie, was promoted to secretary-treasurer.

Althouse, who has been with Central Hudson since 1928, has been serving as vice president, with responsibility for the construction, engineering, production and purchasing group. A graduate of Lehigh University, with a degree in electrical engineering, he served as division superintendent in Kingston and Catskill from 1933 until 1938, when he was transferred to Poughkeepsie, where he has remained, holding a number of executive engineering positions prior to his appointment to vice president in 1954.

Edwin D. Strong

Strong, a native of Beacon, joined Central Hudson in 1929 as an estimator. In 1931, he was transferred to Kingston, where he remained until 1960, rising to the position of Upper Hudson Commercial Division manager. After serving as manager of the Sales Division for two years, he became an assistant vice president and General Commercial manager and, in 1963, was appointed vice president.

Strong, who holds an electrical engineering degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, has long been active in community and industry organizations. His industry affiliations include the American Gas Association, the Executive Committee of the New York State Farm Electrification Council, the Policy Committee of the National Life Better Electrically Committee and the Sales Division Executive Committee of the Edison Electric Institute, the industry's trade association.

He currently is serving as a member of the advisory board of St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, a director of the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association and a director of the Poughkeepsie Action Council.

He is also a member of the Planning Committee of the Dutchess Area Community Chest and Council.

Dodd Vows Fight to The End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders indicated today the resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will be taken up in about 10 days. Dodd vowed to fight it and, whatever the outcome, to run for a third term in 1970.

The Senate's bipartisan Ethics Committee unanimously recommended Thursday after a 14-month investigation that the white-haired Connecticut Democrat be censured for financial misconduct.

None to Defense

None of Dodd's colleagues spoke out immediately in his defense, but he was quick to reassert he had done nothing wrong and said he would make a detailed reply to the committee's findings.

In its report to the Senate the panel said Dodd diverted to "his personal purposes" at least $116,000 in federally raised campaign and testimonial funds in the years 1961-65.

It also said that in this same period he collected travel expenses both from the Senate and private organizations for seven trips. It did not list the total amount involved in the double billing.

The proposed resolution of censure declared that in both respects Dodd's conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The committee also requested the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into various aspects of Dodd's activities to determine whether any possible violations of law were involved.

Shows No Emotion

The report and the censure resolution were presented to the Senate by Sen. John Stennis D-Miss., chairman of the six-member ethics panel, as Dodd looked on among only a handful of senators on the floor.

Dodd showed no emotion or loss of composure as Stennis spoke.

Shortly before Stennis rose in the Senate he went by Dodd's office and gave him a copy of the report. Stennis later told a reporter he felt he owed this gesture of courtesy to Dodd.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his guess was that the censure resolution would not be taken up in the Senate until the week of May 7 — partly to give Dodd time to prepare his defense and also in hopes of first clearing away a Senate snarl over a tax bill.

This Swimsuit COULD Use Some Changes

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A shapely blonde plunged into a heated swimming pool to demonstrate a new paper bikini for the press and the worst happened — or the best, according to one's point of view.

The top part of the suit — guaranteed not to shrink, burn or disintegrate — floated away Thursday from 23-year-old Noel Steever of Bel Air, Md.

While she sought to reaffix it, a public relations man explained to gaping reporters, "It's not really a piece of athletic wear. It's not a thing to go swimming in, really."

Most of the reporters hardly heard him. They were watching "Miss Body Chemistry of 1967."

The unveiling was in conjunction with Chemical Progress Week.

Miss Steever later said the $4 swimsuit "could use some design changes. Perhaps if they put some holes in it the water would run through and it wouldn't come off."

Mickle Not Summoned

It was erroneously reported on Monday that George Mickle of state police with having his car illegally parked on the highway. State Trooper Norman Kilfoyle, who investigated, said the Mickle car was properly parked on the shoulder of the highway when it was struck by a car operated by Ronald Talmadge, 33, of Saugerties. There was no summons issued. The accident took place on Malden Road.

Joseph F. Furlong

Furlong joined Central Hudson in 1948 as a Cost and Rate analyst. He became assistant secretary in 1952 and was elected secretary and assistant treasurer in 1955. He holds an electrical engineering degree from Union College and a master's degree from the Harvard Business School. Local Girl Drops From Broadway Overpass Bridge

A local girl, who police said apparently jumped some 25 feet from a railing of the Broadway railroad overpass this morning, was reported in fair condition this afternoon at Kingston Hospital.

Police said the girl, identified as Phyllis Collins, 18, of 30 Washington Avenue, was seen falling from the overpass bridge on the Downtown side after she had apparently left a year-old infant on the railing shortly before 10:30 a.m.

Winfield Bigler, of RD 4, Box 543, Kingston, police said, reported seeing the girl fall as he was driving in the underpass. He also saw the baby and went up on the bridge and got it.

The girl, after striking the pavement, got up and began walking east on Broadway. Police caught up with her and she was taken to the hospital by Fatum ambulance. She is under treatment for a badly fractured left arm and possible internal injuries.

Detectives Wilmont Hall and John Crispino with Sgt. Julius Glassman and officers Raymond Wells and Anthony Turck investigated.

World News In Brief

Fear All 12 Dead

KITAKYUSHU, Japan (AP) — All 12 men aboard a U.S. Navy P3A patrol plane were believed to have perished today when the four-engine turboprop crashed into the sea off Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu.

Officials said the Lockheed Orion plane went down between Japan and Korea, setting off a blaze that hampered rescue efforts for more than two hours. U.S. and Japanese search planes reported sighting pieces of wreckage, two life rafts and dye markers, but no survivors.

A Navy spokesman said all 12 men were presumed dead, but rescue craft will continue combing the area.

The plane had taken off from the U.S. Marine Air Station near Hiroshima on a routine patrol.

Six CAF Men Perish

TRENTON, Ont. (AP) — Six Canadian airmen were killed Thursday night when a four-engine Canadian Air Force Hercules transport plane crashed and exploded during a practice landing.

The 36-ton turboprop burst into flames when it hit the ground about 1 1/2 miles from the end of the main runway of the Trenton Armed Forces Base.

The explosion set fire to trees a quarter of a mile from the crash, and officials cordoned off the area for half a mile.

Tories Win Vote

BRIERLEY HILL, England (AP) — Britain's opposition Conservative party has won another special parliamentary election by a vastly increased margin and its victorious candidate today predicted trouble head for the Labor government.

Voters in this Staffordshire industrial district gave 31,711 votes to Conservative Fergus Montgomery, a margin of 10,220 over his Labor opponent Derek Forwood. The special election was called to fill a House of Commons seat which the Conservatives won in March 1966 by only 1,567 votes. The winner later died.

The election outcome will have no effect on Prime Minister Harold Wilson's commanding majority of some 90 seats in the House of Commons.

Reds Go High

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union claims it now has "the world's highest tower" — the 1,761-foot Moscow television tower, which is 705 feet taller than the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

The claim by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, conflicts with published figures on two American towers. The TV tower of station KTHV-TV in Fargo, N.D., is 2,063 feet and KSLA-TV in Shreveport, La., has a 1,898-foot tower.

Tass said the last section for the Moscow tower was put in place Thursday.

Noise Abatement

Bill Becomes Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A prankster who explodes a cherry-bomb near a church or synagogue during religious services could be tossed into jail for as long as a year, under terms of a new state law.

Gov. Rockefeller announced Thursday he had signed legislation, effective Sept. 1, that will make it an act of "aggravated" disorderly conduct for a person to:

"Make unreasonable noise or disturbance while at a lawfully assembled religious service, or within 100 feet thereof, or with intent to annoy or alarm."

The revised penal law, taking effect Sept. 1, classifies such an act as a "Class A" misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum of a year in jail, or $1,000, or both.

The bill was among more than a score of bills processed by the governor as he moved to dispose of the last 400-plus measures of a pile of 945 left on his desk by the Legislature when it adjourned earlier this month. He has until May 2 to deal with the remaining legislation.

Seeks Reelection To School Board For Ellenville

Seeking reelection to the Ellenville Board of Education to succeed himself for a term of one year is Paul Henderson, of Napanoch. He is presently serving in the seat vacated last September by Meyer Regenbogen, who resigned before the expiration of his term.

Henderson, a native of Brooklyn, has been a resident of the Ellenville area since 1946 and attended Ellenville High School, graduating with the Class of 1950. With his wife and six children, five of whom attend Ellenville Central District Schools, he resides at St. Mark's Place, Napanoch.

Served in Army
Prior to enlisting in the U. S. Army in 1953, Henderson was engaged in the electrical contracting business in the Ellenville area. He spent two years in the service as an electrician at the Anti-Aircraft and Guided Missile School Detachment, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

A certified engineering technician, he is presently employed as a technical associate at IBM in Kingston, where he has worked for the past 12 years and is associated with the Plant Engineering Division at that facility.

A member of St. Mary's-St. Andrew's Church, he is also active in civic matters and conservation. He is a charter member of the Lackawack Fish and Game Association, Inc., and served as its president for two years. He presently serves as an alternate delegate for the Association to the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Aided Transportation

A regular attendant at School Board meetings since the inception of centralization at Ellenville and prior to his service as a member of the Board of Education, Henderson has supported what he feels are many substantial educational propositions over the past several years. He was instrumental in securing transportation for kindergarten age children so that all those eligible could have the advantage of experience in these classes.

During his term of office on the Board, Henderson has attended several County and State Educational Association meetings. He was appointed legislative delegate to the Ulster County School Boards Association conference on educational matters in Albany recently.

"... where your money works for you AND the community"

Denies Racist Title

By BEN DE FOREST

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he's a defender of states' rights, not a racist.

"I have never in my public life made a speech reflecting on the rights of people because of their race, creed, color or religion," he told an audience of Pittsburgh business and professional men Thursday night.

Hits Encoachment

Wallace said that as governor of Alabama he tried to block encroachment by the federal government.

"We don't like it because the federal courts have stepped into every phase of government that should be left to the respective states," he said. "That's all we're talking about — the right of home rule or territorial integrity."

The audience of 1,000 applauded throughout his speech. Some occasionally stood to cheer.

A line of seven or eight men was at the side of the speakers' table throughout the meal earlier. The men had left their $15-a-plate dinners to shake hands with Wallace. The former governor's food, touched only slightly, grew cold as he greeted them.

In Contrast

The reception at Pittsburgh, his second stop on a Northern speaking tour, was in marked contrast to his greeting at Syracuse University Wednesday. That audience, composed largely of college students, interrupted him with jeers and boos.

There were demonstrators in Pittsburgh, too. An estimated 1,500 persons, mostly Negroes, marched three abreast around the hotel where Wallace appeared chanting "Go home Wallace, Wallace go home."

Wallace arrived before the demonstrators appeared and stayed at the hotel overnight. He didn't see them.

He leaves today for Cleveland, Ohio, for another speech in a four-city tour interpreted as a trial run for a possible presidential candidacy in 1968, as he tried in 1964.

But Wallace said again in Pittsburgh that he will not decide whether to become a candidate until the end of the year.

He told a news conference he may seek the presidency "if the two major parties do not give the people a choice."

"It looks now," he said, "as if neither major party will give the people that choice."

Report Ramparts Publisher Fired

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ramparts magazine directors have fired Edward M. Keating as publisher and president.

Keating, Menlo Park attorney, was the founder and a principal angel of the five-year-old journal which disclosed the Central Intelligence Agency's secret financing of the National Students Association.

Warren Hinckley, 28, executive editor, took over Keating's functions as publisher. After the board's action Wednesday night, Keating demanded immediate payment of $215,000 he contended the magazine owes him. He estimated his total investment in Ramparts at $860,000.

Keating also called a shareholders meeting for May 8 to ask a reversal of the board's action.

Hinckley said the directors never would have removed Keating if he had not attempted to regain financial control.

Keating said he was forced to act because the magazine's youthful management "failed to exercise fiscal responsibility and was endangering present and future investments."

Hinckley disagreed, saying Ramparts circulation is over 200,000.

Protestor Starts On Hunger Strike In County Jail

Frank Miata, said to be one of the ring leaders in the State University College at New Paltz protest against on-campus recruiting for the Armed Forces, has begun a hunger strike in the Ulster County jail where he is being held in lieu of $100 bail.

Miata was brought to jail Thursday afternoon by Sheriff William B. Martin and Under-Sheriff Jerome L. Schwartz after he had asked that his bail be rescinded.

Refused Breakfast

This morning, although his breakfast was served to him along with other prisoners, Miata refused to eat and has declared he will go on hunger strike. At the request of Sheriff Martin the prisoner was examined by a physician and pronounced in good physical condition.

Miata is one of 29 persons arrested by the Sheriff's Department Tuesday afternoon during a demonstration in the lobby of the Student Union Building at the New Paltz college. He had been out on $100 bail awaiting disposition of a charge of disorderly conduct.

Thursday Miata requested that bail be rescinded and that he be taken to jail. Sheriff Martin and Under-Sheriff Schwartz went to New Paltz where they picked up Miata after his bail had been revoked.

Miata has promised he will remain on fast until College President Dr. James Frost declares both orally and in writing that he will no longer permit military recruitment on the State College campus.

Attempted Block

The demonstration by a small organized group began when the demonstrators attempted to block the recruiting tables from students who sought to secure information from the recruiters.

At first the demonstration was orderly but on Tuesday afternoon the matter got out of hand and the sheriff placed 29 under arrest. All but one, Joel Schubert, were students at the college. Miata was one of those arrested and later released on $100 bail for a hearing later before New Paltz Justice of the Peace Rexford H. Schneider.

According to a statement by one of the group a vote had been taken to sit in the lobby of the Student Union Building without obstructing the recruiting tables but later a vote was taken to sit directly in front of the tables thereby obstructing other students from reaching the Naval and Marine recruiters. It was then that Sheriff Martin moved in and the 29 were arrested.

Sheriff Martin said Miata would continue to be served food in jail and it would be his own decision to eat it or refuse it.

Local firemen checked a blaze this morning in a combination washing and drying machine in the home of Mrs. Alice Costello, 237 West Chestnut Street. The unit was removed from the house. Firemen were summoned by an alarm from Box 3321, Montpelier Avenue. A call to the Ulster County Station answered a call at 11:01 a. m. for a brush fire off Navara Street.

Kiwanians Hear City Judge Hit Justice Critic

The emotional approach of local editorial comment referred to as "Lace Pantie Justice" was the subject of remarks by City Judge Hubert A. Richter at the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday, with Judge Richter declaring the editorials to be too emotional, uninformed, and pictured as "a man unwittingly tearing down the respect for law and order and the courts."

As a preface to his behind-the-scenes reaction of a judge and a court, the speaker stated that "crime is on the increase and out of proportion to the population explosion." He cited federal figures to indicate that in 1965 two million Americans were in prison, in juvenile detention, on probation, and that two out of every five, or 40 per cent of the youngsters, would be arrested for other than "moving crimes."

Crime in Streets

"Crime in the street" was the topic of much talk, said the City Judge, but citizens too often did little or nothing to help. "They find fault, they claim the police are inefficient, or they speak of 'Lace Pantie Justice.'"

The Supreme Court that have been under fire from aroused citizenry are often the result of lack of understanding on the part of the citizens, said the Judge.

That the Constitution of the United States guarantees certain safeguards to its citizens was pointed out by Judge Richter with reference to several of the decisions of the courts.

He pointed to the decision hailed by many citizens as being in error, concerning the banning of prayers at the opening of sessions of public schools. The Judge referred to this as "an emotional uproar without taking into consideration the Constitution's guarantee of religious freedom — the basis upon which this country was founded."

End Justify Means

He spoke of the "end justifying the means" in reference to the constitutional guarantee of safety in the home from search and seizure, and spoke of confessions as violating the idea that "no man is compelled to be a witness against himself." The Judge said that voluntary statements were not barred and neither was general questioning at the scene of a crime.

He pointed out that once a person is restrained in his liberty or taken into custody by the police, that they must now inform the arrested person of his right to counsel and to remain silent. The Supreme Court said that the constitutional right to counsel "is hollow and meaningless if it is given only after the confessional stage."

Judge Richter then spoke of local court decisions and the editorial reference to them as "lace pantie justice." The speaker said these editorials inferred that the judges of local courts "were either stupid or dishonest," and he entered a "not guilty plea" for himself to those inferences. He underlined the idea that the person who produced these editorials on "lace pantie justice" had "never investigated any case with me," and he drew from this the thought that the editorials were "emotional and uninformed" and pictured the "man unwittingly tearing down the respect for law and order and the courts."

Judge Richter stated that a judge had the responsibility of punishing a person, rehabilitating a person, and protecting society, and must consider all of the angles of the case. "What makes this man tick" is a question that a judge must ask himself, said the city judge. He stated that the judge should take time to gather all the facts, that society must be protected, that the criminal should be punished, and that something should be attempted to rehabilitate the wrong-doer.

"Each case and each individual is different," said Judge Richter in explanation of these ideas. There is no such thing as justice of the courts," said Judge Richter who declared that "I try not to be hoodwinked or fooled by emotional outbursts."

He suggested that citizens take the time to find out the facts, that they support their local courts "where they need more men and more money but are doing a marvelous job," that more probation officers be employed, and that parents exert additional influence upon their children to know where they are and what they are doing and "not pass the buck to authorities."

He also warned that adults should set the proper example for juveniles, and that emotions should be tempered with facts and clear thinking and eliminate the inferences of the so-called "lace pantie justice" criticism.

Protest to Yemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has protested to the government of Yemen the actions of a mob which invaded the U.S. compound Wednesday in Aden, a major provincial city in the Middle East nation. "A large crowd broke into the compound, causing severe damage to vehicles, furniture and personal property," Robert J. McCloskey, press officer for the State Department, told reporters. The compound housed a branch office of the American Embassy and an office of the Agency for International Development.

While there were no reports of any Americans being injured, "We have some reports — unconfirmed — that several American AID officials are being detained by Yemeni authorities for unexplained reasons," McCloskey said.

Dederick Files For School Board

Katsbaan resident Bruce K. Dederick has filed a petition as a candidate for the Saugerties School Board, assuring a three-way race for the seat presently held by incumbent Edwin E. Olson. Dederick's announcement of his candidacy followed one by Olson that he would enter the fray to succeed himself—and a similar statement by George W. (Bill) Poythress that he, too, would be a candidate for this particular three-year term.

Dederick was born and raised in Saugerties and attended local schools, graduating from Saugerties High School with the Class of 1953. He also attended Le Tourneau College in Long View, Tex., and the University of Miami in Florida.

The School Board candidate has been self-employed in the trucking business since 1959. With his wife Dorothy and three children, he resides in the Katsbaan area of Saugerties. Daughter Wendy Sue is nine-years-old and a fourth grade student at

Dems Pick Brazier, Goble, Rea, Thornton to Run for County Legislators Here

Democratic candidates for the positions of County Legislators were selected by the Town of Saugerties Democratic Committee at a caucus last week. Receiving the endorsement were: Paul Brazier, David Goble, G. Thomas Rea Jr. and Richard F. Thornton. Under the Ulster County reapportionment plan, the Town of Saugerties has been designated as Legislative District No. 1, and is entitled to four legislators.

Democratic Town Chairman, Maurice D. Hinchey Sr., in announcing the names of the candidates, said all were able and well-qualified men who by experience, education and ability would give Saugerties the best representation possible in the County Government.

Brazier Is Veteran
Paul M. Brazier is a graduate of Castleton State College and has done graduate work at the State University College at New Paltz. He is a veteran of four years service with the U.S. Navy and a teacher in the Saugerties Junior High School where he teaches New York State History.

Brazier is a member of the Glasco Fire Company, the Knights of Columbus, and St. Joseph's Holy Name Society. He is a member of the Saugerties Teachers Association, New York State Teachers Association. He is a delegate to the New York State Teachers Association and a former delegate to the New York State Young Democrats Association. Brazier is a past president of the New York State Young Democrats Association, and is currently president of Saugerties Democratic Club. He is married to the former Joyce Griffin. They have five children, one boy and four girls.

David Goble is a veteran of World War II, and was awarded the Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters. He is a member of the American Legion, past president of the Village of Saugerties Water Department, and currently serves as Police Justice of the Village of Saugerties. Goble is a past member of the executive committee of the Eastern Zone of New York State Teachers Association. He is a member of the Saugerties Teachers Association and the New York State Teachers Association. Rea is married to the former Joyce Griffin. They have five children, one boy and four girls.

Rea is a member of St. Mary of the Snow parish in Saugerties. He was selected to appear in the 1947-48 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. He was elected a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Scholastic Honor Society this year. Rea is a member of Lamoree-Hackett Post No. 72 of the American Legion. He is married and has seven children. Rea was elected twice to the office of Village Police Justice and during his second term was instrumental in establishing the curfew which has been very effective and has received praise from surrounding villages and townships. Rea currently practices law in the Village of Saugerties.

Robert Herb, former president of the Saugerties Board of Education, who began his service on the School Board with the inception of centralization locally, lent his support today to the three incumbent members of the Board who are seeking reelection this year. Herb, who has a lengthy career as a foreman in local and area newspaper shops and who now runs his own printing firm at Malden-on-Hudson, has questioned the ethics and sincerity of three candidates running for the Board with the support of the Independent Taxpayers Committee.

In a letter to this column, Herb wrote: "The voters of the Saugerties Central School District have a choice at the Board of Education election Wednesday, May 3; or do they? We have the incumbents, Mrs. Garashay, Mr. Breitbach and Mr. Olson; and we have a slate supported by the Independent Taxpayers Committee.

"In the Independents' recent news release I read between the lines and conclude that they are 'out to get someone,' or have an 'axe to grind.' They imply that we are not receiving our money's worth as far as our children's education is concerned. Our school district has consistently over the years spent less per pupil than half of the surrounding area school districts. Good or not so good? Our Regents scholarship recipients, Academy appointments, etc., tend to substantiate that our tax dollars are earning full value.

Thornton is a veteran of World War II and served with the 36th Infantry Division. He was awarded three battle stars, the Purple Heart, and the Bronze Star Medal. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Knights of Columbus. Thornton is a past commander of the American Legion and was instrumental in the organization of the Father Hart Drum Corps. He is married to the former Marion Kenney. They have three children and reside at 19 Prospect Street in Saugerties.

G. Thomas Rea Jr. is a native of Saugerties and the son of Gaetano Thomas Rea Sr. and Helen Rea of 3 Division Street, Saugerties. He is a graduate of St. Mary's School and Saugerties High School where he was active in sports and graduated in 1942. He is a member of World War II. He was graduated magna cum laude from St. Bernardine of Siena College in 1948. Before pursuing his education at the law school of St. John's University, he taught high school for one year. He was graduated from law school in 1953.

Rea is a member of St. Mary of the Snow parish in Saugerties. He was selected to appear in the 1947-48 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Former Board President Says Incumbents Are Best Choice

Robert Herb, former president of the Saugerties Board of Education, who began his service on the School Board with the inception of centralization locally, lent his support today to the three incumbent members of the Board who are seeking reelection this year. Herb, who has a lengthy career as a foreman in local and area newspaper shops and who now runs his own printing firm at Malden-on-Hudson, has questioned the ethics and sincerity of three candidates running for the Board with the support of the Independent Taxpayers Committee.

Our school district has consistently over the years spent less per pupil than half of the surrounding area school districts. Good or not so good? Our Regents scholarship recipients, Academy appointments, etc., tend to substantiate that our tax dollars are earning full value.

"When a candidate seeks to be elected to the Board of Education with one specific purpose in mind, I question his sincerity. Will he really be concerned with the overall education of our children?

"The present incumbents' philosophy regarding education could be stated this way: that every child be given an equal opportunity to learn all that he is capable of learning. Having served with the incumbents in past years on the Board of Education, I might say that I did not always agree with them, or they with me a number of times concerning expenditures of funds, certain parts of the curriculum, school building construction, pupil-teacher ratio, etc., but our basic philosophy as stated previously never changed.

"The U. S. Supreme Court has required reapportionment among many political subdivisions; fortunately our school district was apportioned twelve years ago by a citizens advisory committee with foresight and wisdom; it has been maintained to this day. It is being disregarded by two of the candidates!

"We have a choice Wednesday, May 3. Mrs. Garashay, Mr. Breitbach, Mr. Olson offer you experience, ability, sincerity and devotion. What do the other candidates offer? Think it over! See you at the polls May 3."

Forming Cycle Club Locally

Last Sunday's large turnout of interested potential members at Robins Brothers Cycle Shop, Saugerties, was evidence of the tremendous interest in organizing a Cycle Club for the promotion of motorcycle safety, legality and good will in this area.

Ronald and Leonard Robins, owners of the local Cycle Shop, who are serving as sponsors of the fledgling organization, said today they expect an even larger turnout at another meeting planned for this Sunday at 12 noon at the Saugerties shop. As sponsors, they urge all those interested to attend the weekend meeting at which decisions will be made on a name for the club, club insignia and formulation of by-laws.

Mrs. Sweeney Is New President of Columbiettes Here

The April meeting of Saugerties Council Columbiettes was very well attended, indicating the interest of members in their organization. Laura Buono, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of new officers, which went unchallenged and was unanimously accepted.

They are as follows: president—Eva Sweeney; past-president—Elsie Wey; vice-president—Helen Keeley; recording secretary—Lucille Nau; corresponding secretary—Marie Sheehan; financial secretary—Isabelle Hackett; treasurer—Gerry Ruddy; inner guard—Mary Campochiaro; outer guard—Betty Lynch; trustee for three years—Gilda Iannone.

Another important item to come up for discussion at this meeting was the eighth anniversary of the Saugerties Columbiettes, which is to take place in October. Plans for the celebration of this event will be made at the next meeting. A Granny Afghan, which was crocheted by Isabelle Gambino, will be awarded soon and is described as "really beautiful." Money realized from this venture is to be turned over to the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary at their May meeting by Columbiettes president, Eva Sweeney, who is also a member of that group. This will help them complete their pledge to the hospital building fund. The attendance prize was won by Gilda Iannone.

In order to register for driver education a person must be 16 years of age by July 1. Preference will be given first to next year's seniors, then juniors, sophomores and freshmen. Pupils who wish to improve their reading skill may register for the course in improvement of reading. No credit will be granted for this subject.

Driver education classes will meet from June 26 until August 4. The other classes will meet from July 5 until the third week in August.

Tentative registrations are now being accepted for all courses to see whether or not there is sufficient demand for each subject. If the enrollment in any course is insufficient, it will be cancelled. Registrations will be accepted in the Saugerties Junior-Senior High School guidance offices by mail or by telephone.

The Senate refused to recess for dinner. Then when Morrow arose to speak, he spent his allotted hour reading from a book about food, describing in mouth-watering detail the many goodies it contained.

Paint Alone Won't Protect Rot - Vulnerable Wood

By MR. FIX,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Aside from dipping fence posts in creosote—a once in a lifetime job for most of us—the average homeowner thinks little about the use of preservatives against rot.

Preservatives can be widely used for preventing decay in wood. Paint alone, incidentally, is not enough to protect wood from rot, a condition that comes about when fungi attack wood under the right combination of moisture and temperature.

Since moisture is the big enemy, wood which continually exposed to dampness or is in constant contact with the ground should have special protection.

Creosote is not the only substance which can be used for this purpose, although for years it was. Creosote is cheap, but it cannot be painted over since it bleeds through paint — unless you first seal the surface with aluminum paint. Creosote has a bad odor and is difficult to handle since it readily stains and burns the skin.

Newer preservatives are not as hard to handle and are more versatile. You are likely to encounter them under a variety of trade names, but the primary ingredient will be either pentachlorophenol or zinc naphthenate.

Mixed with other ingredients, these preservatives also serve as protection against insect attack and as a water repellent. Because they keep out water, swelling and warping will be reduced.

The pentachlorophenol (penta) solution is generally in an oil base and can be brushed or sprayed. Dipping remains the best way to protect since penetration is important in preventing rotting. If possible, soak the object in the penta solution.

Otherwise, brush heavily on the bare wood. If there are cracks and crevices, be sure to work in the solution.

Since the zinc naphthenate comes in a clear solution, it can be used as a wood sealer. It will work well under varnish when a natural finish is desired. Otherwise, use as you would the penta preservative.

All new lumber likely to come in contact with moisture, or be used in such a way as to hold moisture, should be protected. Also protect garden furniture, ladders and similar items that rest on the ground. Soak ladder ends, bottoms of legs of furniture, apply at seams, wherever pieces cross or meet since moisture can be retained at these points.

Around the house, apply it to the bottom edges of doors, garage doors, around door sills.

The joints of wooden steps are places where dampness will persist and there are many such points around a porch.

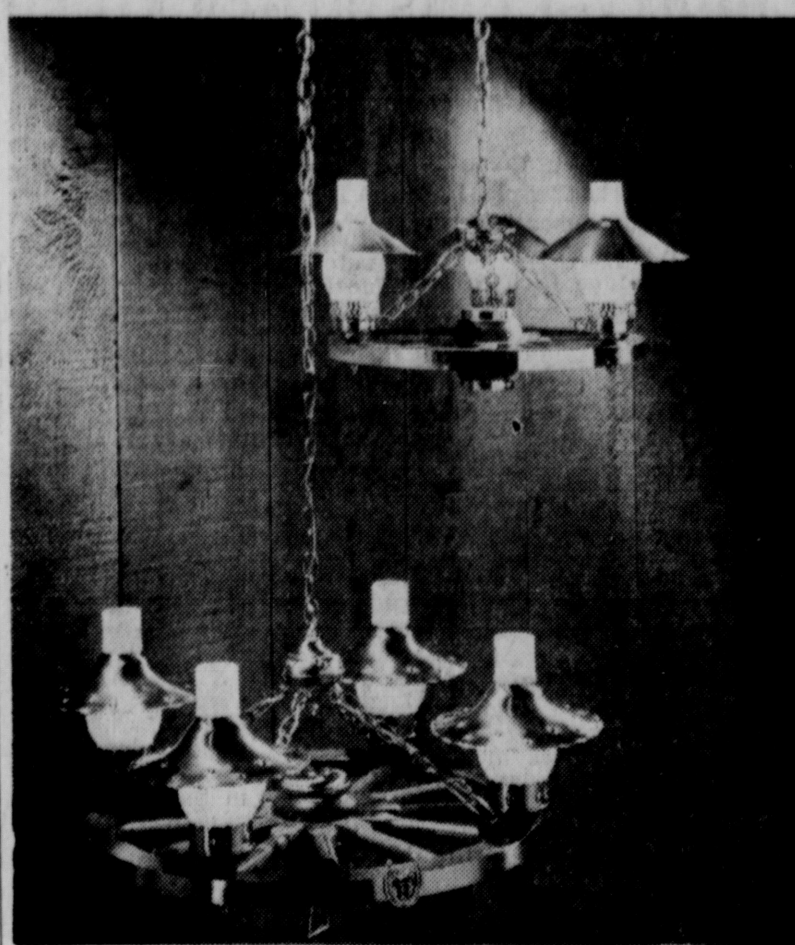

Use it around window frames, wooden screens, storm windows. If wood has started to rot, preservative will do no good. Scrape away the rotted portion and then apply preservative to save what is left.

Spraying will get the solution into corners and crevices and an ordinary garden spray will do the trick.

Though not as harsh and as smelly as creosote, these newer preservatives can irritate the skin of some people. If you get any on your hands, wash immediately with soap and water.

Thinning Paint

It is generally not necessary to thin your paint—but if you need to, be sure to carefully follow the thinning directions on the label. National Paint advises that you use a large mixing pot and that you thin down only the amount of material which is to be used at once. Most paints have the required amount of thinner in the paint formula—so you should never overthin or try to "stretch" your paint.

Light Fixtures And Home Decor

Today's smart homemaker embellishes her home with carefully chosen lighting effects. She knows that bright, imaginative use of lighting and lighting fixtures accentuates as well as illuminates a home's decor. Today's marketplace offers a full line of lighting accessories to match her every need and whim.

To heighten a frontier or country setting, designers suggest wagon wheel lights crafted in the rustic style. Ponderosa pine—sanded, lacquered, and buffed to a satin maple finish—adds warmth to the glow. Styling is topped with frosted glass chimneys, more popular now than ever before.

Formal elegance can be achieved with a flip of a wall switch and a classic five-arm chandelier. Fashioned from polished brass in the authentic colonial tradition, these remnants from the past turn any home into an 18th Century plantation house.

The vibrant exuberance that highlighted the turn of the century is reflected in the popular Tiffany lamps. Petals of a muted deep-toned green and antique brass trim add a dash of color to any room.

In the contemporary style are fixtures offering these choices of warm, inviting light, filtered through panels of amber and clear glass. With these pull-downs, a casual air is always only an arm's reach away.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. is displaying a wide range of fixtures with styling and materials designed to put every room in a new light.

Annual Driveway Resurface Racket Noted by Bureau

By KENNETH B. WILSON
President National Better Business Bureau

Now that spring is here, fly-by-night contractors are getting ready for their annual fleecing of unwary homeowners who are in the market for new or resurfaced asphalt driveways.

Whether you are planning a driveway for a newly-built home or seeking to resurface an old driveway ravaged by time and winter, a little care and investigation will help you avoid being victimized by unethical contractors.

Past reports to the National Better Business Bureau indicate that thousands of homeowners have been victimized each spring by contractors who offer quick, on-the-spot bargain jobs, use inferior materials and equipment or simply take a big deposit from the homeowner and disappear.

With a million or so new homes built in the country each year and with countless other homeowners resurfacing their old driveways, residential driveway construction and resurfacing is a lucrative business for the unscrupulous contractor.

Naturally, most paving contractors are reputable businessmen, but just as in any other field, the buyer who doesn't take the trouble to get the facts can wind up with big trouble.

Unethical operators count on the fact that the difference between a quality job and one that will not survive the first winter is not immediately apparent to the inexperienced eye.

Good Work Is Major Job

Good driveway work is a major construction job that must be carried out strictly according to rigid specifications. It involves the use of expensive rollers and other equipment and is not a job for fly-by-night contractors.

Even a resurfacing job involves much more than a quick coat of asphalt, or what in some cases is nothing more than black oil sprayed over the driveway ostensibly to fill potholes. Days or even months later, the driveway is an oily mess, tracked regularly into the house on the family's shoes.

The quick, bargain-priced jobs favored by migrant contractors have prompted complaints of breakage, heaving, ripples, unevenness, holes and puddles. Grass has no trouble growing through the thin asphalt covering.

Unethical contractors are basically of two types: one collects money in advance for a job he will never perform; the other will do the job but the homeowner will wish he hadn't. The work is so poor that the homeowner is forced to pay once again to have the job done properly by a reputable contractor.

Calling an established contractor is the easy, sensible way to get the kind of job you want, but if you're not careful this is what can happen:

One operator signed up an entire group of suburban customers and collected $250 from each of them. Months later, they still had no driveways. The business of this particular contractor was carried on through a telephone answering service. The victims never did get what they paid for.

One customer paid $500 for an inferior installation, then was slapped with a $199 lien on his home because the contractor hadn't paid for the material used in resurfacing the drive.

Typical Operation

In a typical operation, a solicitor in work clothes rings the bell and says he just finished a driveway job in the area and since he has enough material left over for one more job he is in a position to offer a real bargain.

He may say he is working out of some nearby community to give the impression that his is a local concern and may even use removable lettering for his truck to suit the area he happens to be in.

His goal is to get the homeowner to authorize a cash-in-advance job and may promise a bonus if the prospect recommends him to neighbors and he gets the work.

The secret of driveway appearance and economy lies in quality. Poorly designed and constructed driveways that begin to crack and crumble after the first winter are far more expensive than well constructed driveways that cost a little more. If the bid is low, chances are the asphalt will be so thinly poured and the base so inadequate that grass will grow through in a short time.

Some materials used to resurface driveways are not only unsuited to the job but have a destructive effect.

Any contract for an asphalt driveway should contain adequate specifications — as to kind and depth of base, thickness of asphalt to be applied, dimensions and a completion date. Any guarantees should be specific, clear and in writing.

A price quotation means nothing unless you know exactly what is being provided.

Homeowners also are advised to plan their servicing needs in advance and to deal only with established firms of known reliability. If there is any doubt, homeowners should check with their local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

Gutter Days Are Here Again

Home-owners should check gutters and downspouts twice a year, to avoid roof drainage problems. That's according to the Roof Drainage Manufacturers Institute, which recommends a Spring and Fall check-up consisting of the following: Make sure you clean out all leaves, branches, or other debris that may clog the gutter or downspouts, causing water to overflow the sides and spatter along side the house. Check for damaged areas of the gutters where fallen limbs or the weight of ice may have loosened supports, or bent the gutter sides down.

Make sure you have proper drainage. Next time there's a heavy rain, you can check this merely by observing if water spills over the edge or is carried off by the downspouts and away from the house where it can't do damage to the home or lawn, or foundation plantings.

If water is spilling over the gutters, it may cause a wet basement, if you have one, or it may eventually undermine the foundation of a basementless house, causing acclimation and resulting wall and ceiling cracking. Repairing or installing gutters and downspouts is no job for a do-it-yourselfer, according to RDMI. Call in a qualified sheet metal contractor.

Buy Now to Save

The slightly higher interest rates now in effect for home loans aren't likely to decrease in the near future, say financial authorities polled by a leading national magazine. However, building costs will continue to rise, so families ready to buy a home should do so now.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Recently we wrote about the marketing of place mats made from covers of old garden catalogs. One New York specialty shop now sells (for $14.50) mounted color pages from old Burpee Seed catalogs such as the one shown, dated 1894.

Color pages in catalogs of the 1800s often were hand-drawn by artists on limestone and lithographed by master craftsmen.

This is the time of year when seed catalogs are arriving to turn thoughts to spring gardening.

Armstrong Nurseries describe three new roses: Red Chief, a tall, bright red hybrid tea with large, fragrant blooms; Sierra Dawn, coral pink-salmon-yellow hybrid tea, vigorous and slightly above average height; and San Antonio, a tall, sturdy, grandiflora prolifically bearing medium-size blooms of fiery red, the official flower of the HemisFair World Fair to open in that Texas city in 1968.

New roses from Jackson & Perkins include Bob Hope, large-flowered blazing red hybrid tea; Valencia, apricot-orange with big blooms, J&P's rose of the year; and Bermudiana pink hybrid tea.

From Star Roses come Lady Red, rich red hybrid tea, and X, lavender-pink hybrid tea; Big Summer Rainbow, pink and yellow bi-color hybrid tea.

Other than roses, Park Seed offers a special bedding F Hybrid begonia mixture; Impatiens Imp., in carmine, orange, rose, purple and white (this does well in shade); Zinnia Red Ruffles, bushy, 18-inch plants; Digitalis Foxy, bushy, prolific; Petunia Polka Dot, white and blue; Sweet Corn Tasty, golden, eight-inch ears; Tomato Spring Giant, a 1967 All-America selection and Salvia Swan of the Rhine, a semishade plant in salmon-pink.

Excellent crops are being grown in plastic-covered greenhouses, a Cornell University horticulturist reports.

Prof. Raymond Sheldrake Jr. says polyethylene is the most common plastic used for this purpose. He recommends a four-mil thickness, in two layers with an air space of one to two inches between layers. The two layers minimize the condensation of moisture in the air. The crops thus need less frequent watering and hold a more uniform temperature.

Sheldrake says as much light passes through the two layers as through one, because with one thickness, a heavy film of condensation builds up, cutting down on light transmission.

Unseen Mud

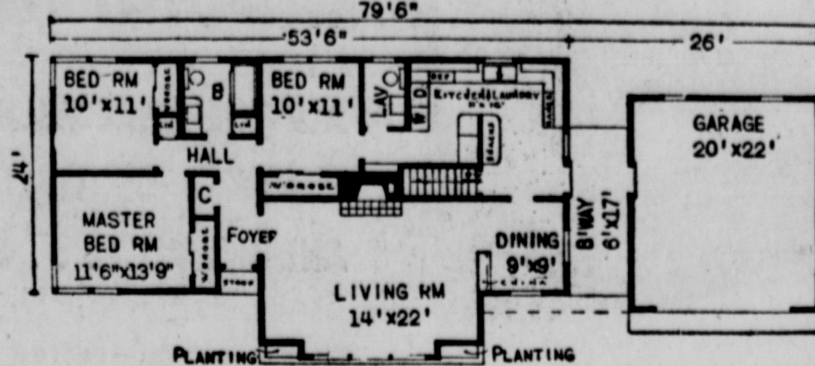

The ease with which mud and other dirt can be cleaned from ceramic tile—whether in bath, kitchen, entryway hall or family room—is a happy fact of the housewife's life. The added information that those gleaming tiles themselves often cover up a layer of unseen mud is less startling than it may seem. This "mud," as the trade calls it, is actually portland cement mortar, one of the materials used to adhere tile to floor and wall surfaces.

Painting Toys

Does your child cherish a toy that has become worn? A new coat of paint may be all that's needed to brighten up this toy and turn it into a delightful new treasure. You can treat your child to a "Christmas-in-Spring-time" by simply painting those wagons, tricycles, dollhouses, and other playthings that have begun to rust or chip. Be sure to get non-toxic enamels from your dealer when coating toys for small children.

Closets, Storage Area In New Ranch Home

By JACK McLENEY

I think you might call our latest home, "The Winslow," ageless. By that I mean it could be equally satisfying to a newlywed couple, a family with children or to a man and wife whose youngsters have grown up and left the ancestral hearth.

The new-marrieds will like the ranged as it is for running a household with a minimum of effort and walking. It can mean a lot to a girl just starting her married life.

The family with children probably will appreciate the two bathrooms most of all.

A word about the third bedroom, or nursery, as the case may be. It can be entered from living room or kitchen.

The outside in the artist's sketch of "The Winslow" shows a modern and appealing house. It looks as if it sprang from the ground. And it will appear that way wherever it is built.

If you prefer brick or concrete block construction to the siding shown in the illustration, "The Winslow" plans show the necessary section views.

Specify Quality

Many architects specify products by their quality. For instance, ceramic tile that is "Quality Certified" by the Tile Council of America includes the products of many manufacturers. Tiles that meet the Tile Council's standards thus include a wide range of sizes, colors and shapes but are all similar in performance and durability.

Gate Latch Handy

Use ordinary gate latches for storage closet doors in garage or carport. Resawn tongue-and-groove siding boards applied over Z-braces make excellent doors.

Warm Weather Brings Problem Of Condensation

By MR. FIX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
The arrival of warm weather marks the arrival of a problem peculiar to warm, humid days. This is the bothersome problem of sweating pipes.

Damp air condensing on cold water pipes causes moisture to drip off of them. Sweating pipes are not only messy, they lead to other problems as well. Pipes and fittings may corrode. Dripping water may damage furniture or other household items in the area.

Preventing moist air from building up in the house will help. This can be done with better ventilation. Exhaust fans in areas where warm, moist air is likely to be prevalent—kitchen, bath, laundry—will not only cut down condensation but will make the house more livable.

But since total elimination of moist air is difficult, one sure cure for the problem of condensation is to eliminate the cold surfaces that sweat. The way to do this is to cover cold water pipes with insulating material that also is moistureproof.

This will prevent warm, moist air from contacting the cold pipes, thus preventing condensation.

The insulation should be covered (or have a cover as part of it) with a moistureproof covering so that the insulation does not soak up the moisture.

The most common type of pipe insulation can be wrapped on. One is tape made of a sticky, cork compound. The plastic cork, since it is waterproof as well as insulating, needs no vapor seal. Make certain, however, that no bit of pipe is left bare between windings.

The other wrap-on insulation consists of glass fiber and moistureproof tape that goes on afterward. The vapor-sealing tape holds the glass fiber in place. Make certain to provide extra wrapping around the elbows and valves.

A plastic foam tubing is available for slipping over pipes. Slit it down one side to apply over pipes already in place. In new work, it can be slipped over the pipe.

This tubing is more expensive but neater looking than tape insulation. Some brands available are already slit. After installation, the opening is sealed with an adhesive or tape.

A mastic compound that comes in cans and which can be brushed on also is available. This is cheap, but not as neat as other methods.

Water storage tanks on toilets also sweat during hot weather. This can be cured with liners of plastic foam available in kit form with special waterproof mastic for applying.

Kingston Lions Club will conduct the second annual Bicycle Field Day program Saturday, April 29, at Kingston Plaza from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m.

All fourth grade students who have been participating in the 4-H Bicycle Safety program, which has been administered by Kingston school teachers are eligible to participate. The Field Day is being conducted by the Boys and Girls Committee of the Kingston Lions Club and Lion members will be present to test the boys and girls skill in bicycling.

The Lions Club also will award a bike.

The Kingston Plaza, which is hosting the Field Day at the parking lot adjacent to Britts; also will provide a license plate for each youth who successfully completes the bicycle performance tests. Each youth participating will receive an inspection of his bike and then be tested on five performance tests including control, turning, etc.

The Field Day is the concluding event in the special bicycle youth program which has been presented to fourth grade students in public and parochial schools in Kingston. Cooperating with the program has been Lt. Lemuel F. Howard and William Whalen of the Kingston City Police Department. Free refreshments will be served to all youth participating.

Spring Concert Slated Tonight

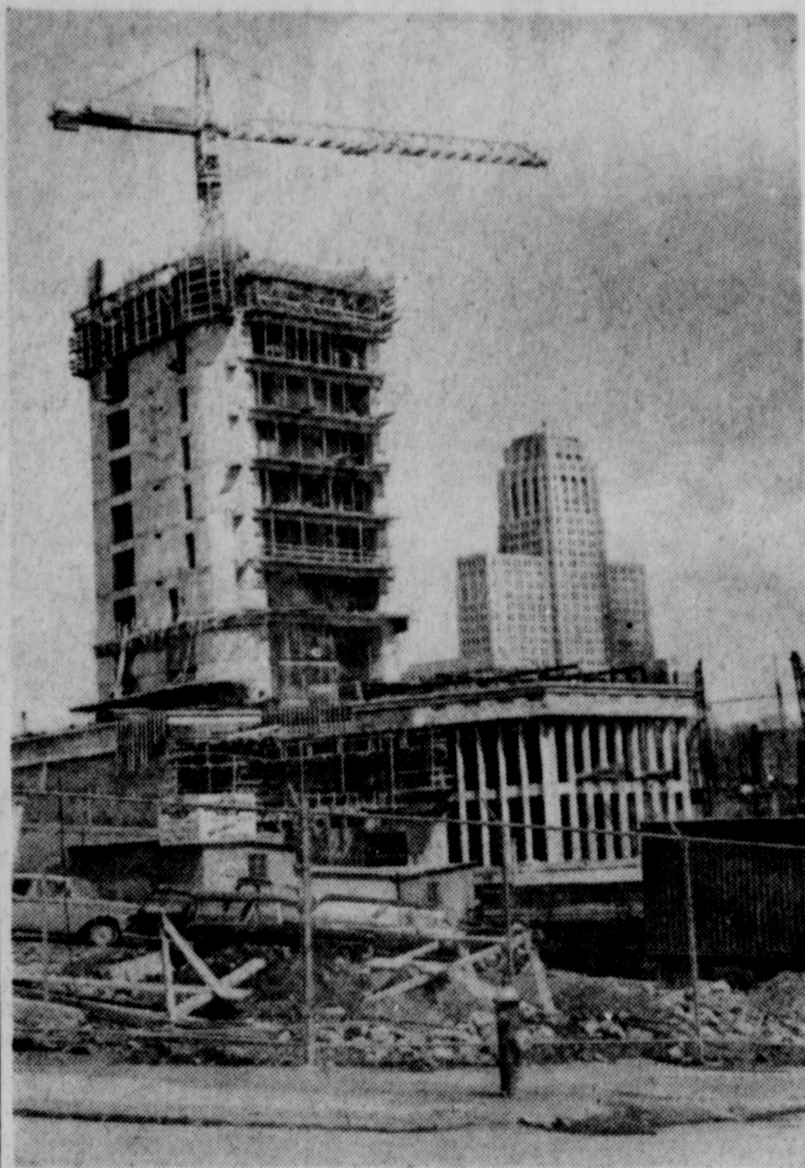

Saugerties Junior and Senior High School Vocal Music Department extends an invitation to the public to attend the annual spring concert in the high school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. This year's concert is entitled "The Dignity of Man and represents an attempt to illustrate this philosophical concept through music.

Original plans included a special invitation to Geoffrey O'Hara, famous composer of "K-K-K-Katy," "One World," and "King of Kings." However, O'Hara was suddenly taken ill while wintering in Florida and died shortly thereafter. Under these circumstances it was decided that this part of the program should be presented as a memorial tribute to one of America's famous composers.

Many area residents will be pleased to learn that this concert marks the return of the Dozen Bakers, the Bakers Dozen, and the Sawyer Chorale. Also featured in the program will be the 90 voice Mixed Chorus, the 50 voice Junior High Glee Club, and several smaller ensembles. Musical offerings will run the gamut from a medley of popular standards composed by the gifted Peter De Rose to works by Ludwig van Beethoven and Johannes Brahms. Tickets may be purchased tonight at the door of the auditorium. Admission price differs for adults, students and children.

To Keep Bond Alive

LONDON (AP) — The man who will keep James Bond alive in print says his Agent 007 will be less keen on gambling and gimmicky cars but he won't lose interest in girls, guns and saving civilization.

Amis, who wrote the comic best-seller "Lucky Jim," said his first of the new Bond adventures will come out next year.

Pigeon Problem: County's Birds In Good Health

Public opinion is divided about the desirability of having pigeons in a community, particularly those which have no permanent home and roost in any available building.

Mixed Emotions

The elderly, who pass the time of day in city parks feeding pigeons usually believe that they are beautiful harmless creatures. The pigeon fancier with a cote of racing or homing pigeons has a hobby which he believes is one of the finest, but the caretakers of public buildings who have to clean up after the pigeons know that they are a nuisance.

The scientist knows that pigeons can carry disease which does cause fatal illness in man. Histoplasmosis is a tuberculosis-like disease of the lungs which has been acquired on numerous occasions by persons who have cleaned out old buildings long inhabited by pigeons. Psittacosis (parrot fever) can also be carried by pigeons and a brief exposure to an infected pigeon may cause a severe pneumonia. Both of these infections can be fatal.

Suspect Pigeons

On March 18, 1967, when a resident of Bearsville, died from an unexplained pneumonia, the possibility arose that it might have been psittacosis since there were pigeons in the patient's barn. The Ulster County Department of Health immediately sent a team to Bearsville, obtained permission from the deceased's wife to shoot the pigeons in the barn, and have them examined in the laboratory. The dead birds eventually ended up at the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., which has facilities for identifying the virus of psittacosis, a complicated laboratory procedure. Along with the Bearsville pigeons went some pigeons from a flock in Ruby in which some unexplained pigeon deaths had recently occurred.

"This week," said Dr. Vernon B. Link, commissioner of Health for Ulster County, "we received the laboratory reports from Atlanta. There was no evidence that either the pigeons from Bearsville or Ruby were suffering from psittacosis. This does not help explain the cause of death of the man from Bearsville, but it does mean that there is no known public health reason to destroy pigeons in Ulster County at the present time."

Computers Will Convert News in Paper of Future

NEW YORK (AP) — An electronics expert predicted today that within 10 years computers would convert news stories and advertising into print in seconds.

Equipment under development will enable reporters to type stories directly into print. William B. Keihl, director of computers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said.

Keihl told the final session of the American Newspaper Publishers Association that "perhaps in 10 years a reporter at a remote console might type his story directly into a computer."

"The editor would be able to ask the computer to let him read the story, edit it, and it would be directly prepared for publication using a cathode ray tube printer."

He told the publishers computers would set advertising copy at the rate of 200 characters per second and reproduce drawings at the rate of 200 inches a second.

He said computers will cost between $3,500 and $5,000.

Keihl, who heads a joint said laboratory development of the equipment will be tested at the ANPA Research Institute's laboratory in Easton, Pa., before being offered to manufacturers for further development and production.

Withall Returns From Convention In Portland, Ore.

Kingston Consolidated Schools District was represented at the 27th Annual Convention of the National School Boards Association in Portland, Ore., this week by Arthur H. Withall, president of the Board here. Withall was among the many school board members, school administrators and others who participated in the convention at Portland's Hilton Hotel from Saturday, April 22, to this past Tuesday.

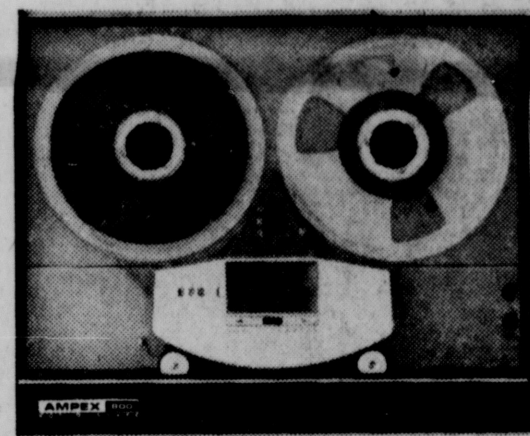

The convention was called "the largest single gathering of public education," and had as its theme — School Boards: A Creative Force.

Withall noted that among the speakers at the convention were Congressman Edith Green, chairman of the House Special Subcommittee on Education; Dr. Paul A. Miller, assistant secretary for Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Senator Wayne L. Morse, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Education; and Max Rubin, member of New York State's Board of Regents. He said some of the sessions were held in Portland's enormous Memorial Coliseum and that more than 200 of the nation's leading authorities in education served as speakers or panel members for some 60 or more special interest clinic programs, which also featured an extensive collection of educational equipment, materials and especially selected architectural displays.

How "Safety Pays" at Mobil

Mobil's got a new game called "Safety Pays". The explanation is big because the prizes are big. And your chances of winning are big. If you know how to play the game.

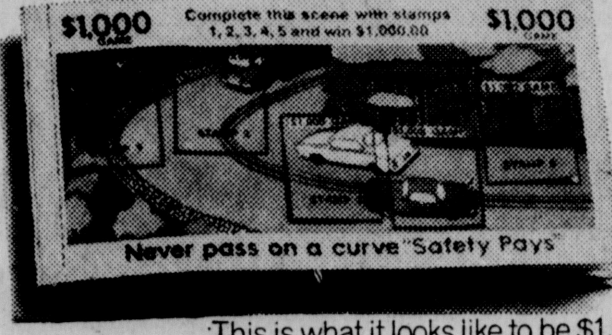

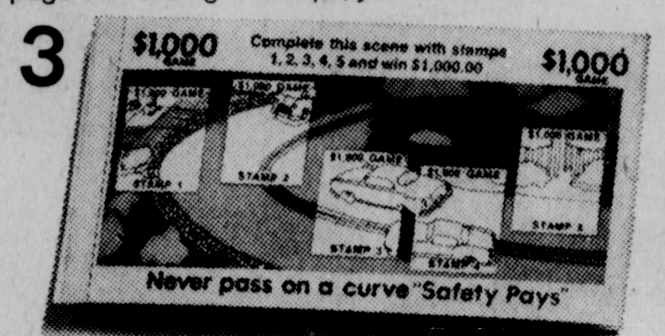

1 Pick up this game book and stamps on your first visit to a participating Mobil Dealer. There's no purchase necessary.

2 These are your "Safety Pays" stamps. Each visit to Mobil gets you three more stamps. Three more chances to win.

This is one page in your game book. There are four others worth $100, $50, $5, and $1. Your stamps match the missing parts of a page. When you complete a page with the right stamps, you're a winner.

This is what it looks like to be $1,000 richer.

5 We've even got prizes for people who hate to play games. They're worth cash right at the station.

With "Safety Pays" you have one game book. You don't have halves of this or that to fumble through each time you play. You see at a glance exactly what you need to win. And while you're at it, you might take a look at the safety hints on each page. If you're going to play a game, it might as well be an educational one.

By Roger W. Babson

OUR DOLLAR
BABSON PARK, Mass., April 28—The other day a vice president of a huge New York bank dropped a "bombshell" into international banking circles. He suggested that if foreign governments holding deposits here should insist on turning them into gold, the U.S. just might refuse to honor their requests. That we would simply sit on our $13-billion hoard. The fixed price of $35 per ounce, at which the U.S. agreed to redeem the dollar for foreign holders ever since the end of World War II, would be no more. In a word, we would disavow our dollar from gold!

Some immediately said that the banker's "rising balloon" had been handed to him for release by none other than the Secretary of the U.S. Treasury. It has long been known that official Washington has been "all steamed up" because foreign nations—whom we rescued from the brink of economic disaster a few years ago—are continually exchanging their dollar holdings for gold. Such resentment has applied especially to France. Others, however, held that the startling statement was merely the opening run in the battle to give greater liquidity to all Free World currencies. This financial Armageddon is slated for Rio de Janeiro in September at the meeting of the International Monetary Fund. Whatever the intent, whoever the instigator, the effect was electric. The price of gold shot up in London. Long dormant and burning bottom, gold shares in New York were sparked to life. Economists great and small were eagerly sought for press interviews. The central bankers of Europe shuddered. And we can guess that the "Gnome of Zurich" laughed.

Behind the Smoke

It is said that you can count on the fingers of one hand the men in this country who really understand international money and its ramifications. Even this may be an overstatement. However, the smoke now belching from the banking and political capitals of the Free World does have a source in some serious financial fires. The two major ones are: (1) The now accelerating plunge of the U.S. into debt to the leading nations of Europe; (2) the failure of gold supplies to climb rapidly enough to accommodate a global credit expansion sufficiently large to finance ever higher levels of world trade.

On count number one we stand at least partially guilty. For years, the U.S. has spent, lent, invested—and just given away—more to other nations than they have spent, lent, etc., in this country. It has been our dollars that our allies have been glad to amass. Why not? For Uncle Sam has said, ever since Bretton Woods in 1944, that he would redeem for foreigners any time at $35 an ounce. And there's the rub! When we had over $20 billion in gold, the bottom of the barrel looked far away. But now that our gold stock is down to $13 billion—and foreigners hold nearly $30 billion of our dollars—they ask us ever more insistently: "How Long?"

Surely, we cannot go on forever flooding the world with dollars. The law of supply and demand would steadily force the dollar's value down. But the huge outflow of dollars has enabled our allies to finance their economic expansion and to support a world trade boom. It is only recently that doubts about the dollar have threatened world prosperity.

The real job for the U.S. is twofold: (1) Restore confidence by slowing down our dollar hemorrhage; (2) work co-operatively with the other nations at Rio in September to establish a broader base than just the dollar for greater international liquidity. Our Allies must help us to achieve the first, and we must sacrifice some prestige to attain the second objective.

Devaluation No Answer

Admittedly it will be hard for us to "give ground" at Rio. When the International Monetary Fund was formed, we were king. That is not so now. As creditor we could call the tune. As debtor we must find a solution fair to all. And we shall have to learn to limit our world commitments... or slip deeper toward bankruptcy. Surely we must shun the suggestion of the New York banker with regard to dishonoring our commitments. For the result would be devaluation and a train of financial and economic events with consequences that no man can foresee and that few would care to contemplate.

Manager Wins Grant Award; Vacations in P.R.

C. W. Rogers, manager of the W. T. Grant store in Simmons Plaza Shopping Center, Saugerties, recently attended an achievement award banquet and program held at the Americana Hotel in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He received a William T. Grant achievement citation and cash award for the outstanding sales and customer service performance of his store during 1966. The award, marking the 10th recognition a Grant manager can achieve, is eagerly sought by 1,100 Grant managers from coast-to-coast.

During their holiday stay at the Americana, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were the guests of top company officials, including Edward Staley, chairman of the board, and Louis C. Lustenberger, president.

Rogers paid tribute to his store organization citing their part in his winning this recognition. "Without their untiring efforts to give friendly and courteous service, my winning would not have been possible. They are indeed a capable group of dedicated people," he stated.

The 1966 record sales of the local store, along with those posted by other sectional winners, gave the W. T. Grant Company its greatest sales year in history with sales in excess of $900,000.

William T. Grant, honorary chairman of the board, opened his first Grant store in 1906 with his life savings of $1,000.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
If you use pinkish shears, cutting a double thickness of wax paper every now and then, it lubricates the cutting edges and retards the wear.
Don't cut material like emery cloth with pinkish shears, because it is apt to ruin the shears.
Also, no one should try to sharpen shears unless they have had years of experience. We happen to sharpen them for chain of stores and this we know for sure.
Harry Bauman

This man knows what he's talking about. So gals, next time your shears need a little bit of perk up, do like I did and get a piece of wax paper, fold it over a couple of times and cut-cut-cut.
The wax paper did a dilly of a job for me... thanks to our friend Harry.
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Whenever a recipe calls for melted shortening (except butter), I use vegetable oil instead. Saves time, and then, too, I don't have to wash that pan used to melt the shortening in.
Mabel Wood

Dear Heloise:
The other day I used a large, old hair roller as a "frog." I wrapped foil around the bottom of the roller and put it into a small vase... stuck the flowers into the center part of the roller, filled the vase with water and the flowers stayed in place.
This let me make a pretty flower arrangement even though I didn't have a regular frog to hold them in place.
Mrs. M. Schaffer

Three, four and even more of these brush rollers can be held together with rubber bands and they make great frogs.
Because they are so deep, they do a great job of holding up flowers.
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I happened to glance in my neighbor's car and saw a picture of their two children, age six months and two years.
Their mother had written over the pictures "Please drive carefully, Daddy, we need you."
This was on the dashboard where he can always see it. I'm sure that picture is a constant reminder for him to be careful.

Clarence Weber

Dear Heloise:
My boys always manage to tear a hole around the bottoms of their shirts.
When I buy new shirts, I take the bottoms off and put iron-on tape between the fold, then sew the bottoms back on.
It takes a little extra time, but in the long run I find it sure saves tears.
Mrs. Myrna Greer

Dear Heloise:
When stacking old newspapers for the "paper drive," don't waste time placing all the folded edges on the same side. The pile gets lop-sided and the papers slide.
Alternate the folded side and you can make a higher, neater stack.
Anita Sommer

Dear Heloise:
I have a large family and bake quite often.
Usually I send a few samples over to my in-laws.
I have found that a half-dozen cupcakes fit perfectly into the box that heavy duty aluminum foil comes in.
When the lid is closed it doesn't mess up the icing if carried carefully.

Marks 104th Year
LEWISTON, N.Y. (AP) — Clark B. House, who spent several days this week plowing fields with his tractor, turned 104 today and predicted he would work a few more years before retiring.

He even said he looked forward to summer when he plans to climb a ladder and pick cherries, as he did last year and the years before then.

House, once a carpenter, returned to that trade nine years ago, at the age of 95, to build a garage for his son, Willis, 37. Today he practically operates the 73-acre farm owned by Willis, an employee of the U.S. Customs Service.

House was born in Cameron, a Steuben County community, and grew up in Trousbury. At one time, he was a peace justice in Trousbury and recalled that not too many years ago he helped one of the couples he married celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Principal Speakers for Church Breakfast

JOSEPH P. TORRACA

ROSEMARY PELLEGRINO

The men and women of St. Mary's parish in Kingston will have a communion breakfast in St. Mary's Hall, 200 North Street, this city, on Sunday, April 30 at 9:30 a. m.

The breakfast and program is sponsored by St. Mary's Benevolent Society and Ladies Society of Santa Maria. Both groups will receive communion in a body at the 8 a. m. Mass in St. Mary's Church.

Guest speakers for the occasion will be Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, director, School of Nursing, Kingston Hospital, and District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca.

Miss Pellegrino was graduated from the Edward J. Meyer Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Buffalo and served one year in the Navy Nurse Corps. Her degree in Nursing Education was earned from Syracuse University.

After a period of nursing education at Keuka College, Miss Pellegrino was assistant director of nursing at Columbia Hospital, Hudson, and director of nursing at the Littauro Hospital, Gouvernville.

She was appointed to her present position as director of the School of Nursing and Nursing Service at Kingston Hospital in 1956.

Miss Pellegrino is a member of the Omicron Chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, a member of the American Nurses Association and a member of the National League for Nursing.

District Attorney Torraca was graduated from Fordham University and New York School. He served with the U. S. Marine Corps and was honorably discharged as a first lieutenant in 1946.

Torraca served as a member of the staff in District Attorney Frank Hogan's office in New York, was law investigator for the City of New York and served as U. S. Naval Intelligence Agent. Prior to his election as Ulster County's district attorney, he served as assistant DA in the county.

Two Area Women Invited to Participate in Rockefeller's Statewide Women's Unit

It has been learned by The Freeman that two Kingston women have been invited by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to work with a voluntary statewide group for the benefit of women.

The letters of invitation were sent to Mrs. William Krum of 39 Marvys Avenue, Kingston, and Mrs. Augustus Parker of 73 Crane Street, also this city.

The letter reads as follows: "Patterns of living, which have changed very much in the past few years, have had a major impact on the lives of women of this generation. It seems to me that their changing role deserves more serious attention in the development of New York State's long range plans for the education and employment of its citizens."

"As one approach to a knowledgeable implementation of those plans, I have created a Women's Unit in the Office of the Secretary to the Governor to serve as a clearing house for information on subjects of special interest to women."

"One of the first responses to the Unit came from Mrs. Joseph I. Whittlesey of Schenectady, who was concerned about how the individual woman volunteer can be encouraged to participate in state government. I have asked Mrs. Whittlesey to head a voluntary statewide group that

Juniors Host Mothers

Junior Troop 36, sponsored by the Sawkill Fire Company Auxiliary, recently put its hospitality and troop dramatics badge skills to work as they entertained approximately 40 people at a mother-daughter luncheon at the firehouse.

The girls planned and prepared both the luncheon and the entertainment which was based on a satirical skit concerning working mothers. They also filled some of the requirements of the Dabbler badge with the centerpieces which graced the tables. Leaders of Troop 36 are Mrs. Joseph Quick who is assisted by Mrs. Richard Alberstadt.

Memorial Day Parade

Kingston area Girl Scouts have been invited to participate in the Memorial Day parade being sponsored by the Kingston Veterans Association on Tuesday, May 30, at 2 p. m. Leaders will notify their service team members or neighborhood chairman if they intend to participate. The next leaders meeting will not be until May 18. Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I receive numerous invitations to charity balls, fashion shows, previews, flower shows and the inevitable country club functions. In many cases I do not know anyone in the sponsoring organization but receive an invitation only because of membership in another group. In refusing, must I acknowledge each and every one of these invitations?—Mrs. Burns

Dear Mrs. Burns: When the invitation says R.s.v.p. or answer cards are enclosed, you must send a refusal. When, however, a card is enclosed saying "I will take tickets," and there is no blank for a refusal, you need do nothing. Country club announcements of dances or functions need only be answered if there is an R.s.v.p.; usually they simply ask you to make reservations and no answer is necessary.

THOSE WHO DON'T KEEP DATES

Dear Mrs. Post: On at least four occasions a member of my family has either accepted an invitation or told us she would be visiting us and never arrived, or explained. I have no desire to spend another day waiting for her to arrive. How can I politely explain to her?—Alice D.

Dear Mrs. D.: The time for a polite wishy-washy approach has passed. The next time she calls, say this: "Jane, I would love to see you Wednesday if you're sure you're coming. Last time I waited all afternoon for you. Do come, but if you find it's impossible at the last minute, please call and let me know."

Order of Leaving a Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When two couples are dining out, and it is time to leave, does each gentleman escort his lady out, or do both gentlemen wait until both have arisen and follow both out?—Curious Curious: Both gentlemen wait and let the two ladies precede them.

Proxy Showers

Dear Mrs. Post: Is there such a thing as a proxy shower, and what are the procedures? We had planned to have one of the hostesses open the gifts and phone the bride during the shower, but we have been told that this is wrong. Our informant claims the gifts should be brought unwrapped and gift wrapped during the shower so that the bride would have the pleasure of opening them at a late date. Is this correct?—Dorothy

Dear Dorothy: There are many forms of "proxy showers." I do not think the gifts should be opened by anyone other than the bride. Although I have never heard of the proxy idea of wrapping the gifts at the shower, I think it is an excellent suggestion. In that way the guests can see the gifts which can then be wrapped in a coordinated color scheme making a lovely package for the bride when she receives it.

When Wedding Takes Place Abroad

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is to be married in July, in Sweden. My future daughter-in-law tells me that it is not the custom in Sweden to send out both invitations and announcements. Invitations are sent to everyone whether it is possible for them to come to the wedding or not. I suggested that our friends here in the states should receive announcements only, except for a few who might possibly be able to make the trip. What is your opinion of this? They will not realize that it is a Swedish custom to send invitations to everyone—

Mrs. Matthews: I agree with you that it would seem foolish to send invitations to all of your friends and acquaintances. In your rather unusual situation you would be forgiven for sending announcements yourself, reading:

Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews announce the marriage of Miss Hulda Svenson to their son etc.

Include only your close friends in the list you send to the bride's parents.

Printed Engagement Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much appreciate your advising me if it is ever correct to send out printed engagement announcements. The bride does not want an engagement announcement in the newspaper, as she says she is then fair game for all sorts of sales pitches.

Sylvia: Dear Sylvia: Engraved engagement announcements are not in good taste. If the bride does not wish to put it in the paper—and I sympathize with her reasons—she may spread the word by telephone, telegram, personal notes, and an engagement party.

So you're planning to give a shower? A new booklet by Elizabeth L. Post tells you everything you need to know—for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

THE MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE:

Why didn't you rebuke that illogical woman who wrote you, "As a child I had so much religion crammed down my throat that I am an atheist"? Such a comment makes no more logic than if she'd said, "As a child I had to wash my face so often that I won't wash my face any more."

Whereas some few people blame stern parents for their rejection of religion, many others have proved the truth of the Biblical injunction: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

ANSWER: I didn't rebuke her because I'm not a missionary. It's not my business to reclaim people for any religious faith they have rejected. That's reasonable, isn't it? After all, I am not a member of any association for the propagation of religion in any of its forms.

However, I am capable of understanding that other human beings, like me, sometimes express themselves inaccurately. Thus, I can stand the possibility that this reader of mine who blamed her atheism on parents who crammed "too much" religion down her throat may not have said what she really meant. I can envision the possibility that what she meant was: "I lived so long with people who told me the way I should go while refusing to go that hard way themselves that I've got no use for yakkers about Christian virtue who can't produce it in action. I have rejected Christianity because my experience of it has been limited to pomposity which used talk about its 'shoulds' as substitutes for the reality of Christian performance."

What I'm saying, of course, is that it is not easy to preach to children and a very different thing to materialize them in our own action. That "way we should go" is, as I'm sure you know, a most difficult way to go. Otherwise St. Paul would not have said, "The good that I would I do not; but the evil which I would not do, that I do."

So I cannot claim that superiority which would entitle me to "rebuke" anyone who may have chosen atheism. That is how it is with me. So I think, for instance, that instead of telling a child how he "should" stop sucking his thumb, we'd do better to go on our knees and pray God forgiveness of that arrogance which imposes a "should" on him when we who "should" love our neighbors as ourselves can't do it. Sometimes I think I'm a truly religious person. At other times, I don't. But I sure do try to be an honest one.

KHS Choir Concert Set for May 12, 13

Leonard Stine, director of music for the Kingston Consolidated School System, has announced the annual Kingston High School choir concert will be given on Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13. It will consist of three major works of contrasting type and variety.

The program will open with a religious work, "De Profundis," by Charles Gounod. This work was composed during a period in Gounod's life when he devoted himself to the composition of both sacred and operatic works. It is based upon a religious text, Psalm 130 and while it is not widely known and rarely performed, it has a great deal of charm and variety.

The second half of the program will open with four choruses from "The Peaceable Kingdom," a composition by Randall Thompson, a contemporary American composer. The text of "The Peaceable Kingdom" is taken from the Book of the Prophet Isaiah. Mr. Thompson makes use of the many varieties in choral tone in setting the mood of the text. This work was dedicated to, and first performed by G. Wallace Woodworth, the Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society.

The program will conclude with excerpts from "Die Fledermaus," a sparkling, brilliant, tuneful score by Johann Strauss, the Waltz King. "Die Fledermaus" represents one of the masterpieces of Viennese classical opera and is usually performed in its entirety on New Year's Eve at the Metropolitan Opera.

Mr. Stine has been assisted in the preparation of the choir for this concert by Mrs. Margaret Roosa, a well known contralto in this area. Mrs. Roosa is a member of the music staff in the school and was recently designated assistant choir conductor by the Kingston High School Board of Education.

The Doctor's Mailbag

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D. TIGHT SHOES, SOCKS MAIN CAUSE OF INGROWN TOENAILS

Q—I have an ingrowing toenail. What is the best treatment for it?

A—Since ingrowing toenails are caused by tight shoes and socks, the first step in treatment is to eliminate this factor. Improper cutting of the nails will aggravate your problem. The nails must be cut straight across. You should also place a small wisp of cotton under both corners of the nail.

Ingrowing toenails are also made worse by moisture and an accumulation of dirt under the nails. Wash your feet and change your socks daily and, if they tend to perspire excessively, dust powdered alum in your shoes every morning.

If these simple measures do not give you relief you should either wear open-toed sandals or have your surgeon remove the section of the nail that is curled inward. This operation will give only temporary relief unless the nailbed under the skin of your toe on the involved side is completely destroyed.

Q—I am a housewife. I have a painful bunion on my left foot. What is the best treatment?

A—If yours is an uncomplicated bunion, an injection of hydrocortisone into the joint should relieve the pain. Since tight shoes with high heels are a cause of bunions in women, you should insist on being fitted with shoes that fit you and have low heels. Once a bunion has formed the only way to get rid of it is by surgical removal, but before having this done you should make sure that your pain is caused by your bunion and not by arthritis.

Q—in a recent column you recommended using an ointment for soft corns. What kind of ointment do you mean?

A—The ointment most often prescribed is Whitfield's. It contains salicylic acid, which is a common ingredient of remedies for hard corns. This acid causes peeling of the skin and also kills any fungus that may be present in the corn. Care must be taken to protect the surrounding normal skin from the destructive action of the acid.

Q—What is the cause of fibrositis and what is the treatment?

A—The cause of this inflammatory disease of fibrous tissues surrounding joints may be a direct injury, over-exposure to cold draft or an infection. Aspirin or hot applications often give relief. The disease usually wears itself out after a few weeks.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Conference on Water Pollution

Water and life are inseparable and it is good news that New York State has plenty of water. There are 3 1/2 million acres of lakes and ponds. There are also 70,000 miles of rivers and streams, several hundred miles of coastal salt water besides the estimated runoff from average rainfall of 48 billion gallons. As we get about 40 inches of rainfall each year, the water supply should be more than enough—or is it? Why then is there a possibility that our use of water can be restricted this year as it has been in the past? Could it be the problem is not how much water there is but instead is there enough clear water?

It is time now to do something about these questions. Won't you come and join in the Conference on Water Pollution and Conservation, May 2, 8 p. m., George Washington Auditorium, 67 Wall Street, Kingston, N. Y. The conference is free and open to all who are interested. It is sponsored by the Home Economics Division of your Ulster County Extension Service.

Mrs. Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, will moderate a panel of speakers, each of whom is well versed on the subject. The panelists are: Mr. Philip E. Dodge, Executive Director, Hudson River Conservation Society, Inc.; the Honorable Kenneth L. Wilson, Assemblyman, New York State Legislature; Mr. Francis Mulvaney, Conservationist, Ulster County Soil and Water Conservation District; Mr. Charles J. Cole, Commodore, Kingston Power Boat Association; Mr. Harry F. Edinger, Director, Environmental Sanitation, Ulster County Department of Health; Mr. Joseph W. Gott, Consulting Engineer, Rondout Corporation.

Following the panelists presentations there will be ample opportunity for questions from the audience. Appropriate literature will be available at the conference for your study at home.

20th Century Club

The 20th Century Club met Monday, April 24 at the home of Mrs. R. H. Woodard, 42 Roosevelt Avenue. Miss Frances Osterhout presided over the short business meeting.

Mrs. William J. Soper, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mrs. Woodard who presented a paper titled "All About Shrimp."

Considerable research has produced the very valuable information that the sea produces everything needed to sustain life, in fact such products as fish meal and fish protein flour can be used for such varying purposes as a milk substitute, for bread, in gravies and soups.

Mrs. Woodard stated, Fish food is now available in Japan at a cost of 20 cents per pound and is widely marketed in that country. There are many fresh water fish farms in the United States and there are fenced sea farms producing oysters and other shell fish. In recent years the salt water farms have been receiving much attention and publicity. However, shrimp farming is still in the future for the United States. The estuary of the broad, slow-moving Everglades River in Florida provides an excellent breeding ground for shrimp. But this is a natural breeding ground. In Japan shrimp farming under the direction of one man has already produced 9000 pounds of the acre in ten months on an experimental scale. It is to be hoped that this excellent result will point the way for an increased interest in this field in this country and others throughout the world which are faced with serious food problems.

Mrs. Woodard received much favorable comment upon the excellent presentation.

What with the number of middle-aged children at our house we go through several school teachers a year. And as long as everyone does his job—which includes a moderate amount of trying and keeping the nose clean—everything works out OK and we all arrive at that glorious getting-out-of-school day sound of limb and reasonably sane.

Once in awhile though . . . just one in awhile . . . one runs into a teacher equipped with a built-in soapbox. You know what I mean.

I'll never forget the one we had a few years ago. Rick's new teacher was a personable young man who appeared mild-mannered, if not meek. Nobody was more surprised than I to discover (even before the first report cards) that this was no sheep in a navy blue suit—it was Smokey The Bear.

What I mean is, I'm for conservation and getting the rivers clean and watching the trees—but do we have to hover over every root?

It got to the place where people in our neighborhood had to sneak out at night in order to thin their flowerbeds and tree trimmers simply refused to enter the area. (Lookit Joe . . . here comes ANOTHER fourth grader!)

The sight of a new building or any kind of construction was enough to put one of Mr. Wright's pupils into a swoon, and they all made painful, gagging sounds when a ready-mix truck rolled by. "Save the soil!" became our motto.

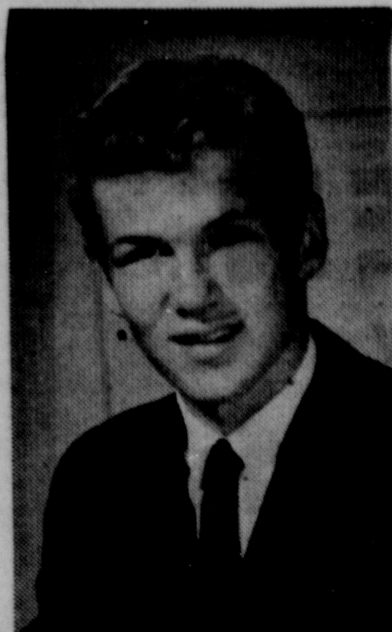

The class approached hysteria by the time Arbor Day came around. They swarmed everywhere armed with spades and bundles of little switches they were determined would grow into mighty oaks. The fact is that the ones I saw were silver maples, but I didn't comment. After all Wright is the one with the master's in education.

If that teacher had his way, the country would be one vast garden patch and we would be up to our eyebrows in berry bushes—sans shoes, cars, hardware and all the accoutrements of modern living.

But, kids are loyal only for a season. Mr. Wright was followed by a teacher who believed in the Progress of America Through Our Manufacturers.

By the time Rick got through fifth grade, he had toured 38 factories and was willing to pour a concrete slab over the entire Midwest. (After all . . . who needs wheat and corn with an ocean full of plankton?)

But, he did learn to use a slide rule that year and the world "nut" no longer brought on a monologue about the chestnut blight. Instead, we got a learned discourse on screws and bolts.

GARY R. NICKERSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Nickerson, Holiday Lane, Kingston, has been accepted for admission to State University at Plattsburgh, N. Y., in September. He will be enrolled in Liberal Arts and Sciences with a major in math. Nickerson will be graduated from Kingston High School in June. (Photo Workshop)

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

School and Children

I think that all parents will agree that school is a child's big job throughout the years. Here then is where a parent has the chance for letting them assume responsibility. Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, points out that parents, while they say children should learn responsibility, do not really allow them to take the responsibility.

One of the things teenagers dislike is to be nagged at about their school grades. It's easy to see why parents do it; they want to be proud of their children, want them to do their best. They realize that the habits of industry, or of slackness, that they're now forming are important to their future.

By the time boys and girls are in high school, we usually have a pretty fair notion as to their ability. We should also have come to a realization that it's up to them, not to us, to do something with what brains they have. This doesn't mean that we shouldn't do everything we can to encourage good work, to show interest in what they're studying, and to take an active part in movements for improvements in our school system. There will be ways of helping, perhaps like hunting up a good story or biography dealing with the period a boy or girl is studying in history.

If a teen-ager's school work seems far below his capacity, it will be important to consider his study habits and to look for reasons why he's not using his abilities. If he's indifferent, what are his real interests, and how can they be tied in with his school work? Is he worried over some situation in the family, something about which his mind could be relieved if his concern were understood? Is he in top-notch physical condition?

A boy may be so taken up with sports or a girl with various outside things at school that they just can't be bothered with studying after school or in the evening. In this case, their programs may need careful going over.

The chronic putter-off-er, girl or boy, who leaves until late Sunday night preparing for an examination or writing a theme for Monday, will not be helped by hair-tearing or urging from his parents. Learning to put his time to better advantage is something he will have to do. Parents can help by seeing that rules for nights out, uninterrupted study hours, and regular hours for sleep are held to. But these rules have to be arrived at after mutual discussion and agreement.

Katrine Juniors Aid Sponsor With Service Projects

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 145, Lake Katrine School have completed a service project for their sponsoring unit which involved cleaning all of the shelves and books in the school library under the direction of the school librarian, Mrs. Doris Martin.

On completion of the project the girls also presented a new set of Girl Scout Handbooks to the library.

The troop has had a busy year with many interesting activities including hiking, nature walks, a visit to the Mid-Hudson Catskill Museum, The Kingston Freeman and the Senate House.

They are working on a troop newspaper with the aid of Mrs. Jane Bungalow and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hellard, who are also giving instructions in leathercraft.

Some of the scouts assisted the Lake Katrine School nurse with a clothing drive for the needy people. They have also had some instruction in ceramics, a roller skating party with several other troops and are presently hoping to complete a boating safety course under the instruction of Mrs. Wm. J. Locke, before the end of the school year.

Another service project which the scouts had was the making of Easter tray favors for the Kingston Hospital.

Cheese Charlotte: Ideal Luncheon Dish

CHEESE CHARLOTTE

This is a nicely nourishing idea for a special supper or brunch, when you're looking for something different, not costly and delicious.

It's a Cheese Charlotte. All charlottes start with a pan lined with bread. In the case of Charlotte Russe, of course, the "bread" is lady fingers, but all others begin simply with slices of white bread.

What is put inside that bread lining determines the type of dish that comes out. Fruit Charlottes (the first of these was apple) and Charlotte Russe are customarily served for dessert. But a flavorful concoction such as this Cheese Charlotte approximates main-dish cookery.

Cheese Charlotte

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 egg yolks
- 1½ tablespoons flour
- 2 cups diced white bread
- 1 cup milk to soak bread
- ½ lb. Swiss cheese, shredded
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ cup heavy cream
- 1½ teaspoons aromatic bitters
- 6 whole bread slices (about), trimmed
- 3 egg whites

Let butter soften at room temperature and beat together with egg yolks and flour. Soak diced bread in milk until well moistened. Add to egg mixture. Add cheese, salt and nutmeg. Stir in cream and aromatic bitters and mix all together thoroughly. Butter a deep 1-qt. baking dish. Dip whole bread slices in milk and line bottom and sides of baking dish with them. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold gently into cheese mixture. Pour into baking dish and bake in preheated oven at 350° F. for 30 minutes. Serve immediately, very hot. Yield: 6 servings.

Crawford, Spouse Split

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Broderick Crawford has been divorced by actress Joan Tabor and ordered to pay $500 monthly alimony for five years.

Miss Tabor, 33, charged Crawford has subjected her to "physical and verbal abuse. He talked terribly and pushed me around quite a bit."

Superior Court Judge Richard Fildew granted her a default divorce Wednesday and fixed the alimony based on her testimony that Crawford's income ranges around $1,000 per week. Crawford, 55, and Miss Tabor were married in Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 4, 1962 and separated July 1, 1965.

To Observe Law

Day with Tours

Business law classes at Ulster County Community College will observe Law Day — U.S.A. on May 1 by taking part in a field trip related to their studies.

The law classes are currently studying the nature and transfer of real property. The major portion of the May 1 field trip will take the classes to the office of the Ulster County Clerk where they will be instructed in the procedures of recording deeds and mortgages. Deeds and mortgages are public records that the students will learn to locate and trace, much as an attorney does when he "searches" a property. The students also will be told about judgments and actions involving property located in the office.

To Visit DA's Office

A second phase of the trip will take the students to the office of the Ulster County District Attorney where the functions of that office will be explained. Of special interest will be the relationship of the grand jury to the district attorney.

Arrangements for the trip are being made by Ronald A. Koster, assistant professor of business administration at UCCC with the cooperation of George Bynner, deputy clerk of the county clerk's office, and Investigator Robert Brown, of the district attorney's office.

May 4, students in Professor Koster's evening business law class will visit the same two offices.

'67 Fires Total 27; Zena School Poses Problems

A total of 27 fire calls for the first quarter of 1967 was reported by Fire Chief Duncan Wilson to the quarterly four-company meeting of Woodstock Fire Department held at Wittenberg Monday evening.

Members of the four fire companies comprising the Woodstock Department heard the chief's comprehensive report of recent activities and plans for the future. Adam Schreiner, president of Wittenberg Fire Company, presided at the meeting.

Included in Chief Wilson's remarks were the successful promotion of a plectron class and the possibility of another one in the future; a report on the Civilian Defense class in West Hurley and the foam demonstration in Zena; a resume of the proposed changes in burning laws and fire permits; increased interest in fireman's merit badge for the Boy Scouts and the possibility of a junior firemen effort because of this interest; the Colonie Fire School and attendance by members of the department; and interest in fire protection for the new school scheduled to be built in Zena.

Fire prevention was also emphasized in Chief Wilson's report with the suggestion that the entire department plan increased activity in the local school, particularly in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week.

Notes

Captain Bruce Reynolds of Company No. 1 spoke of the parades scheduled for the year and invited members of all companies to parade with Company No. 1. The first parade will be held on Memorial Day in Woodstock, with others in Hudson Falls and Ellenville.

A discussion on the possibility of a department picnic was resolved when Company No. 1 indicated that the picnic would be planned and members of the other companies would be invited to attend.

Vernon Shults requested action on a new memorial plaque with Peter Keeney agreeing to take care of the project.

The next four-company meeting will be held in Zena at the firehouse on Monday, July 31.

Invite Public To Reading of Original Play

This Sunday evening, April 30, at 8:30 p. m., at the Little Theatre-off-the-Green, Tinker Street, Performing Arts of Woodstock will introduce a new play, "Tad Richards."

Spontaneously from Woodstock, Richards is now living in New Paltz, with his wife Mary Lou and their three daughters, where he teaches English at the State College in New Paltz.

Although "Killing Charlie" is Tad Richards' first play, he is a published poet, having contributed to Poetry, North American Review, and other magazines. He is a regular contributor of satirical articles to the Realist. Richards is also co-creator of a comic strip, Black Towrzan, yet to be published. He has just completed a children's play, with music, entitled Negro Cowboy, and has two novels in progress.

Richards' play will be read by members of PAW. Readers will be: Sandy Rokoff, Pearl Blackman, Odienne Schlemmer, Jonathan Le Fever, Don Epperson, Ronald Radice.

The public is invited to sit in on a pungent, very hilarious three-act.

There will be a nominal charge for non-members of PAW; no charge for members.

Hope To Pay For Church Addition Over Three Years

The General Building Canvass of the constituency of Woodstock Reformed Church begins this Sunday. All members and friends are being asked to give consideration and support to this undertaking on behalf of the church for today and the years ahead.

Elder Joseph W. Trindle will be the speaker at morning worship of the congregation this Sunday, addressing the group regarding the opportunity and challenge of the 1967 building plan of the church. There will be a brief meeting of canvassers following morning worship.

An exploratory canvass of a segment of the congregation gave indication of the desire and capacity of the group to cover the needs in a single three year program of giving. With this encouragement the congregation is proceeding with its plan to begin building this summer. At this time the plan is proceeding according to schedule. Members of the congregation are conducting the canvass.

Under the 1967 Building Program and according to plans drawn up by architect Albert E. Milliken, a large addition will be built to the rear and side of the church — and a new choir loft will be added to the present interior, directly across from the pulpit, to house the organ console and a choir of more than two dozen members.

Report Milling Firm Is Purchased

Lawrence Dean, president and Mrs. Virgil Van Wagoner, vice-president of Dean's Catskill Valley Mills, Inc., announce the purchase of the building and equipment owned by the Coxackie Milling and Supply Corporation, of Coxackie, who after many years of operation have discontinued their business.

This purchase will serve to increase the manufacturing capacity which at present consists of mills in Catskill and Oak Hill with a retail outlet at Bearsville. The Deans, since the mid-1800's, have been engaged in the milling business as well as the manufacture and distribution of livestock feeds. This operation was started by Jere Dean at Dean's Mills in the Township of New Baltimore and has been in the Dean family for the past four generations. The acquisition of the Coxackie plant will be under the management of Jere Dean, son of Lawrence Dean, and will represent the fifth generation to be so engaged.

Dean's Catskill Valley Mills, Inc., hopes to increase its area of service and to better serve the Mid-Hudson Valley with the addition of this comparatively new and modern manufacturing plant.

Lee Memorial Field, Rock City Road.

Several important vacancies need to be filled on team rosters and all prospective catchers, pitchers, infielders and outfielders are urged to turn out for the try-out competition. In order to register, however, all boys attending must be accompanied by a parent.

Seeks Five Year Term on School Board for OCS

One of 10 announced candidates for one of the four vacancies on the Ontario Central Schools Board of Education this year, Harry M. Castiglione is seeking the seat being vacated by John Ebbs, of Woodstock. Castiglione is also a resident of Woodstock; lives at 49 Plochmann Lane; and has filed a petition for a five year term on the Board.

Prior to moving here, he resided in Kingston and was graduated from the Kingston Schools System. A talented musician, he has become known throughout the area as the director of his own band and as president of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians. On the local level, Castiglione was instrumental in arranging free music to help assure the success of Woodstock's annual Christmas Eve program on the Village Green.

His interest in education stems from the fact that his father has been a teacher in this area for the past 30 years and, at one time, taught music in the Woodstock School. Two of his brothers are also employed in the educational field — one as principal of a high school in Phoenix, N. Y., and the other as assistant director of music in the Philadelphia City Schools System.

Castiglione is presently employed by the Lansell Company, of Kingston.

Ethics Unit Is Ready To Function

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an ex-GI and former sports writer as its chairman, the bipartisan House Ethics Committee is now in business after years of clamor for its creation. Adam Clayton Powell, whose activities were a major force that led to creation of the committee, lost a bid Thursday for a quick U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the constitutionality of the House vote that denied Powell his seat in Congress.

Price Chosen

An Illinois Democrat, Melvin Price, 67, was chosen Thursday to head the group of six Democrats and six Republicans on the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct of House Members, Officials and Employees.

The Democratic Committee on Committees and the Republican Leadership Committee each chose its party's members.

All selections are subject to formal approval by the House Monday.

The committee's initial assignment is recommending for House approval a code of ethics and ways to enforce it.

Serving with Price will be Democrat's Olin E. Teague of Texas, Joe L. Evans of Tennessee, Watkins M. Abbott of Virginia, Wayne Aspinall of Colorado and Edna Kelly of New York, and Republicans Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Jackson E. Betts of Ohio, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, James H. Quillen of Tennessee and Lawrence G. Williams of Pennsylvania.

Junior Democrat

Mrs. Kelly is the junior Democrat even with 18 years of service.

Halleck is a former Republican floor leader, Arends is GOP whip, Stafford is an ex-governor and Williams is the only freshman.

Other than to say he would not lead "a witch hunt," Price had little comment on the appointment which he said he did not seek but which apparently pleased most of his colleagues in both parties.

He said he hoped to come up with rules of conduct "which will preserve and enhance the reputation and integrity of the House."

He Said It

Contrary to widespread belief, the World War I phrase, "Lafayette, we are here," was not the utterance of Gen. John Pershing. It was that of Col. Charles Stanton, American Army officer, whom Pershing had delegated to speak in his stead.

Study $120 Million
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Highway Commission is considering a $120 million road safety improvement program that Highway Secretary Robert G. Bartlett says might require an increase in motor vehicle taxes this year.

The program, aimed at removing traffic hazards from the

Pennsy Road Project

43,000 miles of state highways, was conditionally approved by the commission Wednesday.

The commission delayed final approval until its next meeting in May in order to study the financing proposals.

Under the program, which was recommended by Gov. Raymond Shafer, 1,300 hazards across the state would be removed. They include inadequate one-lane bridges, narrow lanes and shoulders, poor intersections and sharp curves.

To pay for the proposals, Bartlett said after the meeting, it might be necessary to increase motor vehicle registration fees, fuel taxes or some other vehicle tax.

The proposed increases include:

- Doubling the fees charged for operator licenses (from $2 to $4 a year).
- Doubling automobile registration fees (from $10 to $20) and station wagon registrations (from $12 to $24).
- Raising the registrations of trucks and buses by 50 per cent.
- Raising the diesel fuel tax from seven to nine cents a gallon.
- Establishing an 8-cent per gallon tax for lubricating oil.

Lord's Prayer to Music

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The graduating class of Overlea High School has voted to include the Lord's Prayer set to music in its commencement exercises in June.

The vote, 394 to 21 by secret ballot, was taken after an unidentified student voiced his opposition because of the Supreme Court ruling banning compulsory prayers in public schools.

John F. Cassidy, school principal, said Thursday he felt singing the Lord's Prayer as a hymn did not constitute prayer in the school.

Resnick Scores Changes in U.S. School Aid Plan

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today bitterly condemned the Quie Amendment, the Republican proposal to make block grants to states for education, saying it would cost New York State $120 million in direct federal aid to education.

In an address prepared for delivery on the floor of the House, Congressman Resnick charged the Republicans with "seeking to abandon the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in favor of a political pork barrel that would dole out money to the states with no standards, no controls, and no efforts to meet the needs of individual communities."

To Lose $70 Million
He said, "The Republicans, by their own admission, concede that New York will lose $70 million. However, the fact is that the Republican amendment would result in New York State receiving $120 million less in federal education aid next year than it is receiving this year."

"Enactment of this proposal will mean one of two choices for New York State," continued Congressman Resnick. "It will mean that we will either have to abandon those programs already underway, or, if we want to continue the programs that have already been started, we will have to make up the difference by increasing local real estate taxes which are already stretched to the breaking point. The citizens of New York State can afford neither of these two alternatives."

"The educational needs of the Empire State are no different from those of most other sections of the nation. We need more money to build new schools, we need to raise the salaries of our underpaid teachers. We need to raise the level of our educational competency. We cannot hope to achieve these goals with less money. The Quie amendment would be a catastrophe for education in New York State, as well as for the rest of the country."

Urges Unity
Resnick continued, "I urge every member of the New York State Congressional delegation, whether Republican or Democrat, to fight this effort to cut the heart out of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, in general, and federal educational grants to New York State, in particular."

Meanwhile in Washington, the Associated Press reported the landmark federal aid program, a cornerstone of President Johnson's "Great Society," is threatened by an increasingly partisan crossfire with religious overtones.

The House is to consider next week or the week after a $6.7-billion administration bill that would extend the program for another two years. It originally had been scheduled to come up last week, but a delay in the Rules Committee and the need by Democratic leaders to take more time to line up votes out it off.

Now many Democrats feel the time is ripe to bring it up, and a leadership decision was expected today on when to schedule it.

The major issue is whether the federal government should continue to approve which local education plans get the federal funds.

Republicans want to give the money directly to the states and let them decide how it should be used.

The GOP proposal would allocate the money differently among the states, with some of the big Northern industrial states such as New York, California and Illinois losing and smaller states gaining funds.

While the administration bill is based on the number of poor people in each school district, the Republican measure would leave aid distribution to each state's discretion, except that half of the money would have to go for educationally deprived children.

Complicating the problem for administration forces are the House's 50 to 60 Southern Democrats who favor less federal control over the funds — specifically regulations relating to racial integration of recipient school districts.

But Democratic leaders believe the more partisan the battle gets, the better chance they have to keep Southern Democratic defections at a minimum.

The Republican proposal, sponsored by Rep. Albert H. Quie of Minnesota, has raised once again the church-state issue that plagued education bills for years.

Catholic leaders are concerned that private schools — mainly parochial — would be left out in the cold under the Quie proposal. They trooped up to Capitol Hill earlier this week to meet with the Republicans and were reassured — but not convinced.

"We still have misgivings about it and must support the administration bill," said Msgr. James Donohue, head of the education department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Twigg as Idol To Teens Still Baffles Writer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Twigg phenomenon is one of those periodic eruptions of carefully manufactured teen-age enthusiasm with roots in the old Frank Sinatra and Beatles hysteria.

As always, it is a mystery wrapped in enigma and you can get a good argument started on the subject any time. Why is a 17-year-old Cockney girl with a string-bean-shaped 91-pound frame and a cute, freckle-covered face dominated by heavily made-up eyes currently the center of passionate attention by press and broadcasting, a cover girl on a magazine that usually honors statesman and making more money this year than the prime minister of Great Britain?

Presumably the nation's teenagers get Twigg's message.

And Thursday night ABC, the network that is particularly interested in catering to the tastes of the under-35 audience, presented the first of a series of three close-ups of the girl born Leslie Hornby. This one focused on her New York experiences.

We saw a lot of Twigg.

But the mystery of Twigg's emergence as a teen-age idol remained intact, at least to an older viewer in search of clues. The half-hour program, initial tentative plunge into television by a fashion photographer named Bert Stern, was no help.

The program was the occasion for the premiere of an incredible ballad, "I'll Remember You, Twigg," furthering the impression that Twigg, the publicity, the excitement and even the program are all part of a gigantic, and profitable put-on.

NOTICE
A MESSAGE TO PERSONS WHO HAVE PURCHASED TICKETS TO SEE THE FILM VERSION OF JAMES JOYCE'S "ULYSSES" AND WHO HAVE NOT READ THE BOOK.

Persons who have read the controversial classic "ULYSSES" are familiar with James Joyce's use of words. The film "ULYSSES" has now been faithfully brought to the screen and is presented in its unexpurgated form.

James Joyce's "ULYSSES" was published in 1922 but did not enter the United States until 1933, when Justice John M. Woolsey of the U.S. District Court declared: "In 'ULYSSES,' in spite of its unusual frankness, I do not detect anywhere the leer of the sensualist. I hold, therefore, that it is not pornographic."

Despite the above opinion, some people may find the language in "ULYSSES" shocking and embarrassing. If you are among the many ticket holders for any of the performances of "ULYSSES" on May 2nd, 3rd, or 4th, and wish to reconsider your decision to attend, the box office will refund the admission price if your ticket is turned in no later than MAY 1st. The above message is directed primarily toward those persons unfamiliar with the Joyce masterpiece.

IMPORTANT: Admission to "ULYSSES" will be denied to all persons under eighteen (18) years of age. There will be no exceptions.

Kingston, Lourdes Tie, 2-2, in Non-League Engagement

Long Road for Kickers

The long, arduous road grind for the Kingston Sport Club Kickers still has two more weekends to go. That would make six straight games on foreign fields.

Sunday, the locals are scheduled at Kollman in Kissena Park, Flushing. A week later it's American Czechs in New York, before home action returns to Oehler's Mountain Lodge with successive outings against league leading Bridgeport, Kollman and Schwaben.

A replay of a protested game with Yonkers is also on the Oehler's schedule.

Seek First Division

Currently in seventh place in the 12-team League Division of the German-American Soccer Association, Manager Bob Graves' Kickers will settle for nothing less than the first division.

"Six more games remain on the 1966-67 schedule," said Graves, "and we should win at least four of them. This could move us up a couple of notches in the standings and solidify a first division berth."

With 9 wins, two ties and 5 defeats, the Kickers have accumulated 20 points. They trail West New York by one and Yonkers and Bavarian by two each. A winning streak could easily overhaul the trio.

A winning streak is easily within the capabilities of Graves' current roster, considered by many one of the strongest in the club's history.

For example, any squad that has All-America Eugene Ventriglia backed up by stalwarts like Reinhardt, Nick Alexander and Bill Newmehynsky figures to be most unbeatable at home. Add Timo Liekoski, Richie Lotze, Winnie Sodermann, Jon Weber, Don Greaves, Walt Greisner and Jacob Fros and the Kickers' cup runneth over.

Bridgeport Leads

Bridgeport, with three games left to play leads White Plains by two points, 28-26, for the league lead. White Plains is three points back. All this adds up to a rousing finish run for the flag.

McDowell Whiffs 12 But Needs Big Assist

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sam McDowell has his second victory of the season, but even with 12 strikeouts it took a big assist from Willie Smith for the fireballing southpaw to accomplish it.

Smith batted for McDowell in the eighth and his double drove in the run that broke a 4-4 tie to give the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 decision over the Minnesota Twins in the only action in the American League Thursday.

McDowell blanked the Twins on three hits and struck out 10 in the first five innings, while the Indians built up a 4-0 lead.

Then, in pitching coach Clay Bryant's opinion, "Sam tried to reach back for something extra and it almost cost him the game."

"The worst part of it," continued Bryant, "is that McDowell doesn't need anything extra. Sam has more than enough for anybody just throwing with his natural motion."

Bryant said it was the best he had seen McDowell, "at least it was until the sixth when he tried to reach for something extra."

McDowell retired the first two men in the sixth and then walked Andy Kosco and Harmon Killebrew. Then Bob Allison hit a home run over the left-field fence.

The Twins tied the score in the seventh on Cesar Tovar's single and a double by Rich Rollins.

Cleveland had jumped in front with a run in the second and three in the fifth.

Smith's winning double scored Gus Gil, who also had doubled.

George Culver pitched the ninth inning for Cleveland.

McDowell said Allison hit his third homer of the season off a low fast ball.

"It was a good one and it was where I wanted it," said the 24-year-old lefty. "That's one I wouldn't take back if I could. You have to give him credit. It was my best pitch."

Maroon Jayvees Rip Lourdes, 9-4

Nick Ascienzo and Eric Assion limited Our Lady of Lourdes batters to a pair of singles as they pitched the Kingston High Jayvees to a 9-4 win over the Warriors in Poughkeepsie.

The locals scored seven runs in the first inning and coasted from there. Ascienzo injured an ankle at the start but he managed to hurl four frames. Assion pitched three hitless innings of relief.

John Senter had a pair of doubles and Paul Watzka hit a double and single for the winners, who are now 4-1 for the season.

Errors Lead To Unearned Run In Stadium Tilt

Both sides took turns giving runs away Thursday at Dietz Stadium, as Kingston and Our Lady of Lourdes played to a 2-2 non-league tie. The game was halted after the seventh inning because of darkness.

The visitors, who retained their unbeaten status, made four errors in the second inning as the locals picked up both their runs.

Greg Rice began the uprising by reaching first on a misplay and he went to second on another error. Gary Schatzel hit the ball to third baseman John Gorman and he threw low to first, loading the bases.

Catcher Ron Valle grounded to third. The throw home nabbed Rice but catcher Mike Antalek fired low to first base as John Carter scored from second. Valle tallied a moment later when he beat the throw home on a fielders choice.

Given the 2-0 lead, lefty Frank McGowan fired strikes at the visitors, shutting them out over the first four frames.

Wild Pickoff Throw

In the fifth, pitcher Scooter Kerins walked and stole second. After Gorman also walked, Valle attempted a pickoff play at first base and threw the ball into right field as Kerins scored.

Antalek stroked a 385-foot triple to deep left in the sixth inning. McGowan was apparently out of the inning when he fanned Rick DeGregorio but the ball went by the catcher and Antalek scored the tying run.

Gene Stoutenberg hurled the final frame for the KHS nine and he wasn't threatened. Kerins retired Kingston in the last of the seventh, and then the contest was halted.

McGowan, the number one pitcher for coach Mike Rienzo, fanned 13 in his six inning stint. Kerins struck out eight. Both sides picked up two hits.

Kerins, with a 3-1 record to date, is at Saugerties on Monday.

Ex-Outfielder Turned Hurler Wins His Third

By MIKE RECHT

Mel Queen was such a poor hitter as an outfielder he turned to pitching, and now he is passing on his meager batting average to others.

The right-handed Cincinnati hurler has taken particular interest in San Francisco with his gift-giving treatment that has turned the slugging Giants into hitless pigmies.

Queen stumped the Giants on three hits and one run for seven innings. Thursday as the Reds won 3-2 and retook first place in the National League from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals fell back when Houston scored five runs in the seventh inning and held on for a 6-4 triumph, breaking a 10-game losing streak.

Elsewhere in the National League, Claude Osteen pitched Los Angeles past Atlanta 6-0. Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs halted the New York Mets 3-0 and Pittsburgh nudged Philadelphia 5-4.

The 25-year-old Queen, who first passed on his bad hitting habits to the Giants by blanking them on six-hits 6-0 in his only other major league start April 16, got his message across to everyone but Willie McCovey. McCovey homered in the seventh.

Deron Raps Sixth

Queen, now 3-0, left after walking the first man in the eighth, leading 3-1 on Deron Johnson's sixth homer with a man on off.

Pinson's run-scoring hit. Reliever Ted Abernathy finished the lesson.

Queen, a relief pitcher who only got into the starting rotation because Jim Maloney suffered shoulder trouble, came into the major leagues as an outfielder with a strong throwing arm three years ago.

His below .200 batting average did not set the Reds afire. So, he returned to the mound for the first time since high school.

"Almost any outfielder at times would like to be a pitcher, especially when he's not hitting," said Queen, whose father, Mel Queen, pitched for the New York Yankees and Pirates in the 1940s and 1950s. Queen relieved in seven games in 1966, but had only a 6.43 earned run average.

But he pitched last winter in Venezuela and learned "to throw like a pitcher and not an outfielder" and now he is pitching like a pitcher and the hitters are hitting like him.

Gibson Takes Rap

Bob Gibson was lowering Houston averages for six innings before Joe Morgan, who earlier broke an 0 for 24 slump, cracked a three-run triple off reliever Hal Woodeshick after Gibson loaded the bases with none out in the seventh.

The Astros added two more runs in the inning for a 5-2 lead and then stopped a two-run Cardinal rally in the eighth.

Osteen, 3-1, allowed only two Braves past first base as he shortened some bats with a four-hitter supported by Ron Hunt's run-scoring single and three-run double. But the Dodgers lost Lou Johnson for 10 to 12 weeks when he fractured an ankle sliding home in the first inning.

Ferguson Jenkins leveled the New York Mets with a three-hitter and 10 strikeouts for his third victory without a defeat. Ron Santo ended an 0 for 17 streak by doubling home the first run.

Jesse Gonder broke a 4-4 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning for Pittsburgh. The Pirates tied the game in the seventh by scoring two runs on a wild pitch and a wild throw. Donn Clendenon homered for the Pirates.

Braves Open Interstate League May 28 at Winsted

First Tryouts Slated Sunday At Dietz Field

Kingston Braves make their debut in the Interstate League on Sunday, May 28, at Winsted, Conn. according to the official schedule announced Thursday night at a league meeting in Amenia.

The Interstate accepted Millerton but Millbrook and Dover Plains withdrew, leaving the league with six teams.

Besides Kingston, the franchises are: Millerton, Amenia, Pine Plains, and the two Connecticut teams — Winsted and Torrington.

A home and home schedule of 10 games will be played with the general openers slated for May 28. The schedule will be played without interruption during the summer, except for the July 4 weekend.

First Drill Sunday
Meanwhile, Manager Dick Bartsch has scheduled the Braves' first workout and tryouts Sunday at 10 a. m. at Dietz stadium. He will be assisted again by Paul Giannuzzi, former Kingston High school star. Fred J. Davi of Glasco is the franchise owner.

"We don't expect too much of a turnout Sunday," said Bartsch, "but we're anxious to get the local boys started. The college fellows will be reporting after our May 28 opener."

Bartsch invited all Kingston area players to try out for the squad.

"We want the Braves to be an all-Kingston area team as near as possible," said the Braves pilot. "Everybody will be welcome at Dietz stadium."

Starts Sixth Year
A veteran semi-pro pitcher, Bartsch, an IBM employee, will be starting his seventh season with the Braves. He was a pitcher and manager in the Nassau Alliance League on Long Island and later pitched service ball in India.

Later during his 16-year career, he piloted the Woodstock team in the Catskill Mountain League, before joining the Braves.

A second workout is scheduled the following Sunday. Bartsch said he would have his son, Dick Bartsch Jr., freshman basketball and baseball coach at Springfield College at both workouts.

Van Breda Kolff Tapped by Lakers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, after their worst season since moving here from Minneapolis seven years ago, have tapped Willem (Bill) van Breda Kolff to lead them back to prominence in the National Basketball Association.

Van Breda Kolff, an ex-Marine with a brilliant college record, including four Ivy League titles in the past five years at Princeton, was officially named coach of the Lakers at a news conference Thursday.

The new coach has a three-year contract and, though terms were not disclosed, reports were Wednesday, when Van Breda Kolff's impending appointment became known, that the pact called for $30,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Fred Schaus, who coached the Lakers since their arrival on the West Coast, will move up to general manager, succeeding Lou Mohns.

Golf Postponed
Wiltwyck Country Club has postponed Sunday's scheduled Mixed 2-ball foursome tournament to Sunday, May 7, because of wet ground conditions. The smorgasbord set for Sunday has been canceled.

Millbrook Rips New Paltz, 10-2

Millbrook Central had only five hits but took advantage of seven walks and half a dozen errors to stop New Paltz, 10-2, in a non-league game Thursday at the Huguenots' diamond.

The home side managed only one hit, a sixth inning single by Teddy Smith. It was a clean shot over second base.

Leading by only two runs, 3-1, Millbrook clinched the contest with six runs in the fifth. The contest was halted after six innings because of darkness.

Of Trout Unlimited

Drake 1st President State Trout Council

J. Wesley Drake of Kingston has been elected president of the newly formed New York State Council of Trout, Unlimited, an organization to coordinate and promote the efforts of the state Trout Unlimited chapters and members.

Paul Ted Sphers of Afton was named vice president and Robert J. Frasier, Saugerties, was elected secretary-treasurer. Delegates from four New York State chapters of Trout Unlimited — The Catskill Mountains, Clearwater, Southern Tier and the Rav Bergman — organized the state organization at a meeting in Stamford.

Professional Tye

Drake, a native New Yorker, has been a Catskill Mountain resident for the last 44 years. He is exclusively a trout and salmon fisherman, a professional fly tyer and a licensed New York state guide. A mechanical development engineer at IBM Kingston, he was the first president and is now director of the Catskill Mountains chapter, first T.U. chapter in New York state.

Sphers, a New York native, is an ardent trout angler of long standing. He is employed as an architectural engineer for a Binghamton corporation. Syphers was founder and first president of the Southern Tier chapter.

Frasier, a native of Middletown, now lives in Saugerties. The secretary-treasurer is an ardent trout angler and a wild trout restoration supporter. He is employed as product engineering administrative assistant at IBM Kingston. He is also a charter member, past director and present public relations officer of the Catskill Mountains chapter.

Dedicated Anglers
The State Council of T.U.'s organizational efforts are dedicated to wily trout anglers, said Drake. "We will coordinate the chapter's and member's efforts in the promotion of the 'Trout Fishing for Sport' concept," Drake added.

J. WESLEY DRAKE

He listed other goals as: prevention and elimination of pollution, conservation law review and recommendations, stream improvement programs and good streams management practices. The Council will also act as a consultant for all T.U.'s to recommend the best for trout on various programs such as fish resources, water resources, administration and management (artificial and natural trout populations), environment (habitat maintenance and improvement), fishermen and fishing (regulations, information, education) to the New York State Conservation Department.

Knicks See Super Star in Bradley

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knickerbockers think Bill Bradley can be a super star of the future to rival Walt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson, Jerry Lucas, Rick Barry, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

"For the first time we have a potential super star," said Ned Irish, president of the Knicks Thursday when it was announced Bradley had signed a four-year contract believed to call for close to $500,000.

"I don't say he'll do it," said Irish. "But he has a chance to do it."

Bradley, an American at Oxford for two years as a Rhodes scholar, was drafted by the Knicks when he came out of Princeton in 1965 as a celebrated All-America and Olympic star. He chose to continue his studies.

"We had several meetings with Bradley and his lawyer, Larry Fleisher," said Irish. "This covered a period of several weeks while Bill was home on vacation. He had to return to Oxford last Friday but flew back Tuesday and Irving Felt and I completed the arrangements Wednesday night."

Big Double

BOSTON (AP) — An $1,810.40 daily double, fourth highest of the New England racing season, was returned Thursday at Suffolk Downs race track. The double, paid to 34 persons, combined Rinky, $58.20 in the first race and Private Plane, $123.20 in the second.

Mahaffey Hurls Opening Day Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Art Mahaffey, a victim of arm trouble the last three years, has gotten off to a good start in a bid to pitch his way back to the Major leagues.

The big right-hander made his International League debut Thursday night and pitched the Jacksonville Suns to a seven-inning, 3-2 victory over the Rochester Red Wings in the first game of a twin bill. The Red Wings took the 12-inning nightcap 5-2.

In three openers postponed from Wednesday night because of rain and cold weather, Richmond's Braves belted the Syracuse Chiefs 9-5, the Toledo Mud Hens edged the Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 and the Columbus Jets turned back the Buffalo Bisons 6-2.

Mahaffey, who says his arm feels fine, had base-runners in every inning but pitched out most of the jams. A wild throw on an attempted doubleplay by Rochester pitcher Gene Brabender allowed the winning run to score in the seventh inning.

Hawkins Signs

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The Pittsburgh entry of the new American Basketball Association announced Thursday the signing of Connie Hawkins, basketball's forgotten man, for the 1967-68 season. Hawkins, 24, 6-foot-8, has been playing for various independent teams, including the Harlem Globetrotters, since the American Basketball League folded during its second season in 1963.

Iowa Woman Raps 608 in Tourney

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Heien Thomas, a 37-year, 10-pin veteran whose previous high triple was a 555, shook up the women's International Bowling Congress Tournament Thursday night with a 608 that helped put her team, 30 Lanes Bowl of Devenport, Iowa, into first place of Division II with 2,584.

Rochester women teamed for 1,147 and a fourth-place tie in Division I doubles. Ruth Heiser shot 575 and Marge Daggar 572. Three women reached the top 10 in Division II singles. Pat Isenhour of Charlotte, N.C., hit 180-222-191-593 for second place; Pat Cottingham, also of Charlotte, rolled 565 for seventh; and Ivah Dutcher of Seppnerport, N.C., bowled a 567 to tie for ninth.

Barbar Spinnola of New Hartford, N.C., led the category at 609.

Results from Friday, April 21, were verified by computer Thursday and scrambled the all-events standings. Peggy Wosner of Clay, N.Y., is now seventh in Division II at 1,521 and Rose Ogeen of LeRoy, N.Y., tied for eighth at 1,515.

In Division I all-events, the top 10 now reads: Betty Lee, Syracuse, N.Y., 1,748; Frances Priolo, East Syracuse, N.Y., 1,704; Margaret Wilkinson, Phoenix, N.Y., 1,696; Lee Reinhardt, Liverpool, N.Y., 1,680; Helen Radtke, Massillon, Ohio, 1,680; Donna Wethington, Moline, Ill., 1,678; Dorothy Ragan, Seneca Falls, N.Y., 1,674; Rose Ann Bretzer, Liverpool, N.Y., 1,673; Mary Lou Nichols Elmira, N.Y., 1,672; and Audrey Carlson, Glastonbury, Conn., 1,670.

Montreal Tops Toronto, 6-2, To Tie Series

TORONTO (AP) — Montreal's Canadians had the Thursday hex and a little bit of luck working for them in the fourth game of their Stanley Cup best-of-seven final series against Toronto.

Naturally, they won 6-2 and evened the series at two games apiece. The fifth game will be played at Montreal Saturday.

Jean Beliveau and Ralph Backstrom scored two goals apiece for the Canadians, who started to get that good feeling before the game.

That was when word reached their dressing room that Johnny Bower, the Leafs' 42-year-old goalie, had pulled a thigh muscle in his left leg during the warmup and would not start.

"We heard in the dressing room that Bower had been injured," said Toe Blake, the Canadians' coach. "He had been

Rodriguez, Campbell Share Texas Open Lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two pros without a tournament victory this year share the lead in the windswept $100,000 Texas Open.

Diminutive Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, ranked 56th and 50th respectively in PGA earnings this year, shot 68 to grab the first-round lead Thursday.

But a swarm of other pros, including sixth-ranked Bert Yancey, were on the heels of the leaders with 69s. Others at one stroke off the pace were Bert Waver, Richard Crawford, Jay Hebert and Charles Coody. Nine 14s were even par.

Campbell, the 1966 Tucson Open winner, said a stiff wind just reversed the course from the way it was played during warmup rounds. He said players were forced to use woods where irons were enough on Wednesday.

May Mean Vote

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Al C. Ballard may give up smoking — for political reasons.

A new councilman, William Katona, takes his seat beside Ballard May 8. He's allergic to tobacco smoke.

"I won't quit smoking for my wife," Ballard said Thursday. "Why should I quit for a councilman?"

He added, "Well I might, if it means a vote."

Carried Out Vow Man, 43, Draws Life in Prison

ALBION, N.Y. (AP)—A man who, State Police say, made good on his vow to shoot the first person to descend a staircase at a migrant-labor camp must spend the rest of his life in prison, a judge has ruled.

L. J. Dallas, 43, of Elba, drew that sentence Thursday from Judge J. Kenneth Serve of Orleans County Court on his conviction of first-degree murder. He was ordered sent to Attica Prison.

A jury found Dallas guilty April 19 in the Jan. 28 slaying of Willie Carruth, 44, of Buffalo. Both were farm laborers.

Troopers quoted witnesses as saying Dallas had been drinking and announced he would shoot the next persons who walked down stairs in a dwelling at the Florentino labor camp, 10 miles south of this village.

Carruth was struck in the abdomen by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun as he came down the steps, troopers said. He did not know Dallas, they added.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Unstate New York, as reported by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday:

Temperatures will average below normal levels with only minor day to day changes. Daytime highs will be in the 50s and low 60s. Nighttime lows will range from the middle 20s to low 30s. In northeastern New York and over in the 30s elsewhere.

Delay Saturn Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Development problems will delay the first unmanned test flights of the Saturn 5 moon rocket and a lunar landing vehicle until the last half of this year, the space agency says.

Both launches previously were scheduled to occur before the end of June.

The 360-foot-tall Saturn 5 is the type of rocket America plans to use to send three Apollo astronauts into orbit around the moon. The moon-landing craft, called a Lunar Module, is to carry two of the Apollo crew from there to the moon's surface.

Sources said the Saturn 5 is now scheduled for its initial test flight in mid-August. The spider-legged lunar-landing craft is not expected to rocket into orbit on its first unmanned test until late September or early October.

History shows that man played games even in the earliest times.

Express Views On Dual Roles For Supervisors

There was little public interest shown Thursday night at the public hearing on adoption of Local Law No. 1, 1967, which would permit candidates to run for the positions of town supervisor and county legislator.

Two persons appeared to offer opposition to the law, Alderman Edward Norton, (D), Seventh Ward and Frank Kelly of Esopus. Both expressed opposition to adoption of the Local Law.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th Ward also opposed the adoption of the law.

Presiding at the public hearing was Chairman Charles Relyea. After explaining the purpose of the meeting, Chairman Relyea opened the session to comment by the public. Of the seven persons present only three spoke.

Percy Bush, a former Town of Ulster supervisor and presently a deputy welfare commissioner, spoke in favor of adoption of the law. Bush said a town supervisor was closer to the town government and as such could best represent his town in the county government.

Kelly disagreed and said the question should be brought before the public by referendum to ascertain whether the Board of Supervisors should change the law in regard to a man representing both the town and the county.

Asked Judge Kane

Alderman Norton also spoke in opposition saying "the public is being sold down the river." He said he had inquired from Justice T. Paul Kane, who approved the county restructuring plan and disapproved the city's plan for redistricting, and Judge Kane had been unable to answer his question in regard as to whether a man could become a candidate for both positions.

Norton opposed the adoption of Local Law No. 1, and held that the people should have an opportunity to express an opinion at a referendum. Norton is chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Supervisor George Majestic, referring to the 200 year old county board of supervisors legislative authority, said the supervisors were trying to do a good job for the people of the township which they represented and also at the county level. He felt it was best to send a town legislator to the county legislative body, since they were familiar with town problems and could best act on a county level.

Supervisor Peter Williams (R) Saugerties, inquired as to the authority for a man to serve both as a town supervisor and county legislator. He said he had been told or good authority to hold both offices would not be permitted.

Supervisor Attorney Abram F. Molyneux gave his interpretation of the law and said the board had the right to adopt a Local Law, following a public hearing, which would amend the State Law and under Home Rule give the right to serve in both offices. He cited the court order which allows 33 supervisors from the 12 reapportioned districts and said the Monroe County action was not pending in the courts was not parallel to Ulster County's position. Monroe County is operating under a County Charter form of government. There is no provision in the charter that a man may serve in both bodies.

Unlike Monroe County

Ulster County is not operating under a County Charter system and any decision by the court in the Monroe action will not affect Ulster County, he said.

Molyneux said that while there was a difference of opinion among attorneys, his opinion was that a man could serve both as town supervisor and county legislator.

Supervisor Williams expressed an opinion that a town supervisor should be a "watchdog" and protect the interests of the community.

In answer to a remark that the public did not have sufficient notice of the public hearing and that a referendum should be held, Supervisor Majestic referred to the December 19 resolution of the Board of Supervisors stating that a candidate may run for both offices, and he said public notice had been given of the hearing and little opposition was made. He referred to the apparent little interest by the public at the public hearing Thursday night.

The Board of Supervisors will

Sheriff Elected To Honorary Role By Shrine Club

Sheriff William B. Martin emerged as an honorary member of Ulster County Shrine Club after giving a talk for that group at Katsbaan Inn, Saugerties.

Martin's talk was so well presented and received, Shrine spokesmen said, that he was duly elected as an honorary member. Martin delved on the steps he and his deputies take to maintain order and to see that the laws covering peaceful picketing or planned demonstrations are not violated.

President Rudy Turck announced Noble George Schneider had accepted the general chairmanship for the Pete Williams show which the club will sponsor at the local armory Oct. 21. Assisting Schneider will be Vice-presidents Freeman Lasher and Joseph Flowers who will head up the committee assignments for this show for the benefit of the Shrine's Hospital for Crippled Children in Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Guy F. Axtell and Arthur A. Davis Sr., were selected for honors for their 50 years of membership in Cyprus Temple and their continued support of the county organization. Socialists List

May 1 Celebration

As they have been doing for many years, the Socialist Labor Party Sections of Greater New York will celebrate May Day Monday night, May 1.

The celebration will be held at the Henry Hudson Hotel on West 57th Street in Manhattan. The speaker will be Eric Hass, editor of the SLP paper, the Weekly People. Hass was the Socialist Labor Party Presidential candidate in 1964.

May Day was created as a labor holiday, internationally, through the initiative of the delegate of the Socialist Labor Party of America to the International Socialist Congress held in Paris in July 1889.

In keeping with the May Day spirit, the following by Abraham Lincoln is a good quote: "The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one uniting all working people of all nations, and tongues, and kindreds," the Socialists note.

In the four years Lincoln was President he was away from the capital less than a month.

Fair-Share Dues Schedule Set by Local Chamber

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce president, George Svirsky, today announced the adoption of a fair-share schedule for investment in membership in the Chamber's program.

As a result of increased activity Svirsky said that the Board of Directors had voted to follow the current practice of leading Chambers throughout the nation by adopting the fair-share dues schedule. He noted that many smaller firms will remain at the minimum investment level, however, this plan shows firms of all sizes that they may determine their fair and proper stake in the Chamber's program.

Realistic Financing

He commented that during the last year the Kingston Area Chamber has been building a new organization structure capable of meeting the increased challenges presented by the community growth and competition from other markets. Svirsky said that for the Chamber to be able to grow into an organization of a size and vitality equal to the tasks presented it, there must be sound and realistic financing by the entire membership.

Edwin B. Bolz, the Chamber vice president, in charge of the Organization Improvement Division, expressed his basic satisfaction with the formula. Bolz was asked how the formula would effect the average businessman in Kingston area. He replied that many smaller businesses would certainly remain at the minimum level of investment established by the Board of Directors, $50.

At the same time the schedule shows the larger firm a method of determining what that firm's actual share in the program of the Chamber should be. Bolz noted that the formula uses three yard sticks: number of persons employed, number of square feet of business space occupied and annual dollar volume of business. Thus, he said, by weighing these three factors it was possible for business to relate their investment in the Chamber to the size of their operation.

Goal $38,000

Bolz stated that the Chamber's budget goal for the 1967-1968 fiscal year was $38,000 an increase of $9,000 over monies received last year. When asked how this increase would be raised, Bolz expressed the hope that a portion would come from the fair-share scheduling of the investment of the members now in the Chamber. He then expressed a hope that the balance to be developed from new memberships during the year.

Commenting on the reasons behind the need for increased funds, Bolz pointed out that nationally accepted standards show that the minimum amount needed for the satisfactory operation of a full service Chamber is on the order of $1 per capita for the area served. He said, relating this to the Kingston area, that it's obvious that we will need a $60,000 budget for the Chamber before we can really begin to provide the services which this area demands.

Man Convicted Of Murder, 1st, In Infant Death

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A onetime janitor, accused by police of hurling his former girlfriend's infant daughter from a railroad overpass here, has been convicted of first-degree murder at his second trial.

An all-male, Monroe County Court jury found Andrew Washington Jr., 24, of Rochester, responsible Thursday night for the death of 10-month-old Sharon Mallory March 25, 1966.

Judge Joseph S. Montesano of Livingston County Family Court, who presided over the eight-day trial, scheduled Washington's sentencing for May 19.

Washington had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. His first trial ended in a mistrial last Jan. 19 when jurors said they were deadlocked on a verdict.

Police said Sharon's mother, Mattie Mallory, 21, told them Washington, a former boyfriend, threatened her with a knife during an argument in her apartment here.

She fled from the home, leaving the infant alone with Washington, they said. Both were gone when she returned, they added.

Police said the child was thrown 22 feet onto Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the city's downtown section.
